The invocation was offered by Reverend Rhome Dyck, pastor, Stonebriar Community Church, Frisco, as follows:

Dear Father, we come before you this morning grateful for all that you have done for us. We take time to recognize you as our creator and redeemer. Father, we thank you for the freedom we enjoy in this land—we do not take it lightly. We think of those in harm's way in faraway places standing guard for what is right. We pray for their safety and that you would sustain their families here. We thank you for the beauty and the bounty of this state, a sign of your hand of goodness. We thank you for your blessings of provision that extend far beyond our needs.

We thank you for establishing order and protection through government. This morning we ask you for your wisdom in the midst of difficult times. We pray for insight for each member here this morning. We pray for courage to stand for what is right and just. We pray for truth into the complicated matters of legislation and for moral uprightness in all actions. Guide these men and women as they serve the State of Texas for your honor and your glory. We submit to their leadership and authority granted to them by you alone. We pray these things by your Son and through the Spirit. Amen.

The speaker recognized Representative Paxton who led the house in the pledges of allegiance to the United States and Texas flags.
