The invocation was offered by Representative VanDeaver as follows:

Father, we know we face a long day today. And Lord, we know we face a day that will have contentious moments. Father, I'm reminded that your word really tells us that you only require two things, that we love you and that we love your people. Father, my prayer is that when that clock strikes midnight tonight, that we would have given you reason through our actions today to say, well done, my child, well done. In Christ's name I pray. Amen.

The chair recognized Representative Anchia who led the house in the pledges of allegiance to the United States and Texas flags.

HB 4545 - CALLED FROM JOURNAL
VOTE RECONSIDERED

Representative Dutton called from the journal the motion to reconsider the vote by which HB 4545 failed to pass on May 11.

HB 4545 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE DUTTON: We worked with a lot of the constituencies to make sure that this bill does what we want it to do. This is a bill that allowed for school districts to give tutoring to the school. Let me tell you what's in the bill now. For those of you who don't like testing, what it does is it eliminates testing for third, fifth, and eighth graders so that now you don't have that as the basis for anything. What it provides is still optional for school districts to participate. It allows for several other things. The amendment that Mr. King put on, he has an amendment today which I'm going to take, which straightens out his previous amendment. And I think there was one other amendment by Krause which is going to be on the bill. And you have my commitment, which I've made to several members, that when the bill leaves here, we will never let it get worse than what it is. I can't talk about improvements, but I can tell you that we will never let it get worse than what it is. And so I would ask you to vote aye on the motion to reconsider.

REPRESENTATIVE METCALF: Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the conversations we've had over the past couple of days on this bill.

DUTTON: And thank you for your help, too.

METCALF: Most definitely. So just to confirm with the chamber, Chairman King has a clarifying amendment to fix his other amendment that we discussed. But just to clarify for the chamber, it is your intent to keep on the two Ken King amendments and the Matt Krause amendment, correct?

DUTTON: Exactly. Well, actually, Ken King has one amendment because this amendment will supersede the previous amendment.

METCALF: Correct. And if the senate makes changes to those amendments, we'll be made aware of it.

DUTTON: Yes, we won't allow any changes to those amendments. Now, there may be changes to the bill to improve the bill, but we would never allow those amendments to be superseded.

METCALF: Great. Well, I appreciate these two amendments and the Matt Krause amendment to help this bill, and I'll be voting in favor of this bill. I appreciate all the work you've done on this.

The motion to reconsider prevailed.

HB 4545 ON THIRD READING

(by Dutton)

The chair laid before the house, on its third reading and final passage,

HB 4545, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the assessment of public school students and the purchase of certain instruction-related materials, the establishment of a strong foundations grant program, providing accelerated instruction for students who fail to achieve satisfactory performance on certain assessment instruments, and an accelerated learning and sustainment outcomes bonus allotment under the foundation school program.

HB 4545 was read third time on May 11 and failed to pass, as amended, by Record No. 978.

Amendment No. 2

Representative K. King offered the following amendment to HB 4545:

Amend HB 4545 on third reading as follows:

(1) In added Section 28.0211(a-4), Education Code, strike "Supplemental instruction provided by a school district under Subsection (a-1)(2)" and substitute "If a district receives funding under Section 29.0881, the Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2021 (Div. M, Pub. L. No. 116-260), or the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (Pub. L. No. 117-2), then supplemental instruction provided by a school district under Subsection (a-1)(2)"

(2) In added Section 28.0211(a-6), Education Code, strike "and may provide" and substitute "and shall provide".

(3) In added Section 29.0881(e), Education Code, strike Subdivisions (1) and (2) and substitute the following:

(1) financially support or train or otherwise prepare educators and other staff;

(2) pay for agreements with other entities to provide prekindergarten services; or

(3) pay for accelerated instruction provided under Section 28.0211 or 28.0217.

(4) In added Section 39A.064(c), Education Code, strike "A district or school that does not comply adequately shall be subject to other interventions in accordance with this chapter, including the appointment of a conservator under Section 39A.102."

REPRESENTATIVE K. KING: Members, this amendment is the same amendment I put on in third reading but after discussion with TEA, I found out that the amendment we had drafted earlier had a clerical error in it, and we fixed that working with the agency and working with stakeholders. But it is essentially the same amendment and it directs money to kids that are behind or below grade level.

Amendment No. 2 was adopted.

REPRESENTATIVE BERNAL: Chairman Dutton, I think it's fair to say that this bill has gone away and come back several times, and I'm not sure that compared to its original form that it's recognizable. And I'm wondering if as a courtesy to the body, you'd postpone it to give us time to digest it. I don't think any one of us could tell you in any minor or specific detail what it does or how it works. Our school districts haven't had a chance to look at it. The advocates that we trust haven't had a chance to look at it and digest it. And I'm not here saying that we should do one thing or another, but I think that it would be fair to give us an opportunity, considering this is the first bill of the day, to go over it. It may be that the fixes and the amendments have made it the best thing we've ever seen in the history of our lives or otherwise, but I certainly believe that we owe the body an opportunity to know what it does and how it works.

DUTTON: Well, I respect your right, but let me say this to you. This bill has not changed from when the amendments went on in second reading. That was three days ago, so there's been time to look at the bill. And so the King amendment that was just added, really the only thing it did was clear up his amendment which I accepted on second reading. So I'm not sure how much time they need, but they've certainly had three days to take a look on it, Mr. Bernal, and I think you have also. So we didn't change anything except the amendment that Mr. King just put on.

BERNAL: I understand that, Chairman, and I appreciate that. I think it's fair to say there's a fair amount of discomfort among the body about this bill and maybe any others that do this. But if that's your position, then I understand it. I respect it.

DUTTON: Because it didn't change, though. That's what I want to make the point of. It didn't change from when we adopted the second reading amendments three days ago. Nothing has changed except the King amendment which, again, straightened out his earlier amendment.

REPRESENTATIVE HINOJOSA: I want to echo Representative Bernal's concerns about the bill. I know it doesn't have outcomes-based funding now, but those of us who are involved in education policy in this building are of the understanding that that is indeed the intent in the senate.

DUTTON: I'm sorry. I didn't understand you. You said you understand there's some intent by the senate to do what?

HINOJOSA: To have this bill be a vehicle for outcomes-based funding for our federal ESSER funds.

DUTTON: Well, that's not the way it's going to leave the house, and I can tell you that's not the way it's going to come back to the house.

HINOJOSA: And I understand that, and I understand that there's an amendment on this bill. What I don't understand is, given what we know has been work that the senate has done on this issue and has expressed an intention to do, why we still need this bill. I know we have heard in the past that we wanted to give this money to our schools, but it's my understanding that there are federal requirements already that say where this 10 percent that the TEA has kept of the ESSER funds goes and that it does indeed go to our schools already. So I don't know why we need the bill.

DUTTON: Well, that's not totally correct, what you just said. The money that comes to the states from the federal government, 10 percent of their money is allowed for discretionary funds on the part of the state. So that 10 percent of those funds can be used for what the state believes, what the commissioner of education and the TEA believes, needs to be done. So that's the only latitude. Now, the other part of the money has to go to the school districts, and they are basically allowed to use it however they see fit—but not the 10 percent. And that's where the money for this, the $230 million, comes from is out of the discretionary fund.

HINOJOSA: Out of the 10 percent is what the bill intends to put some guardrails on?

DUTTON: I didn't understand. I'm sorry.

HINOJOSA: Are you saying that the bill intends to affect only the 10 percent that the TEA retains?

DUTTON: Yes. Yes, it comes out of that portion. That's the only portion that's affected.

HINOJOSA: So the information I have is that of this 10 percent, five percent already goes to learning loss. Of the 10 percent that we're talking about that TEA retains, five percent of that 10 percent has to go to learning loss, one percent has to go for summer enrichment activities, one percent has to go for after school programs, and it's also my understanding that absent this legislation, that's going to happen and that the governor has named a group of members that will kind of oversee that process. And I believe you're one of the members of that group.

DUTTON: I'm not sure. I couldn't understand everything you said. But let me explain it this way to you. I believe you mentioned learning loss being a part of it. That's what this bill accomplishes, the learning loss, and that's why the tutoring becomes necessary, because of the learning loss. In fact, in Texas now, what we realize is that pre-pandemic, 22 percent of our children were behind. Post-pandemic, it's believed to be that some 40 or 50 percent of our kids are below grade level. What this does is allows the commissioner to use—in the 10 percent, he gets the $230 million that he can now send to school districts to help them pay for tutoring for children. And if you read the bill, one of the things it allows is a tutoring concept or process whereby you can't have more than—the ratio is one teacher and up to three students in that process. That's what it does. And so when you talked about the learning loss, that's what this bill is accomplishing.

HINOJOSA: But that could already happen without this bill.

DUTTON: That what could happen?

HINOJOSA: That tutoring that you're talking about can already happen without this bill.

DUTTON: No.

HINOJOSA: The district can't decide to do that? The TEA—

DUTTON: The district can decide to do it with their own money, but what this does is it takes it out of that 10 percent that's discretionary that's allocated to the commissioner.

HINOJOSA: Okay, and I share with you the concern that we need to make sure that we have the academic needs of children met, especially given the pandemic and how students have fallen behind. Part of my concern also is that there are requirements in the bill that don't expire once the ESSER money is gone and that stick with our school districts and that are telling our school districts how to address learning loss when I believe our schools are—

DUTTON: That's not in the bill, Ms. Hinojosa.

HINOJOSA: Are you saying that's been taken out?

DUTTON: There's nothing in the bill that requires districts to do more than offer this tutoring out of the grant. Because you've got to remember, this is a voluntary program. School districts can apply to get in it or they can choose not to participate. And so it's being voluntary and there's nothing in the bill that requires this program to go beyond the $230 million.

HINOJOSA: Okay. This bill makes me nervous because I know the senate's intent with this. I know what you've said about this is not your intent. I think what you're trying to accomplish can be accomplished already by the TEA. Under the federal guidelines, it would go to this, but I appreciate you answering my questions.

DUTTON: And you've got to remember this particular funding is in addition to the HB 3 funding that we put in, okay? And so you get to use the $230 million for tutoring which is actually on top of what we've done for HB 3 funding. So I don't want you to be nervous about it, because it's going to help a whole bunch of kids.

REPRESENTATIVE ASHBY: Thank you for your explanation here this morning. I don't envy being the first bill up on a long day. And it's been a few days since we've had an opportunity to have a discussion about your bill here. I just want to hit a few key points. Initially, I had a lot of concerns about the bill in its original filed version that came to the floor. I voted against the bill the other day. But I think it's important, and I want you to have the opportunity. At a high level here, the bill that we're talking about today is substantively different—in a much better way, in my opinion—than when it came to this floor. Would you agree?

DUTTON: Yes, I would agree with you, and we're going to keep it that way.

ASHBY: And we're going to get to that, but specifically, one of Representative King's amendments, I really want to target. Initially, probably the biggest concern that I had and I think a lot of folks had in the Public Education Committee was the link between the STAAR test and funding in the bill. But with Representative King's amendment, for the body's knowledge here, that was stricken. So there is no outcomes-based funding left in this bill.

DUTTON: It took that out.

ASHBY: Okay. I think another concern initially that we had was that the bill expanded—expanded being a loose term here—expanded the power of the commissioner or TEA to control these funds. But again, we've had an amendment that has stricken that from the bill as well. Is that correct?

DUTTON: Correct. That's correct. That struck the first part of the bill.

ASHBY: So at the heart of this bill, what we're trying to do is address the learning loss as a result of the pandemic.

DUTTON: Correct.

ASHBY: And I think we can all support that.

DUTTON: I hope so.

ASHBY: And so I guess my final question for you, Chairman Dutton—I love the part of this bill that's left intact. And I think that's where we are right now is we are left with a bill that basically says we are deciding whether to leave the money at TEA with the commissioner or provide that money to our local school districts and allow our local school boards to decide how to allocate that funding that will address this issue of learning loss. Is that correct?

DUTTON: That's absolutely, 100 percent correct.

ASHBY: And so for the record, do I have your commitment that when this bill goes to the senate, if it comes back with any substantive changes or anything that has an outcomes-based funding component to it or anything that expands the commissioner or the TEA, that you will reject those?

DUTTON: I will. You have my commitment to that, sir.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

Representative Ashby moved to print all remarks on HB 4545.

The motion prevailed.

REPRESENTATIVE HOWARD: I just wanted to ask about Section 1, which indicates that if a district receives funding from the Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act—there doesn't seem to be any language there that brackets it just to that 10 percent. There's concern that this can be applied to the entire amount that came from the federal government.

DUTTON: No, there's no way that that could be possible because what we've done is—I think last week or the week before last week—we already sent $11.8 billion to the schools. And I think next week or shortly after that, they'll get the other $5.2 billion or somewhere thereabout. And so they'll already have that money. So that money has already gone to them.

HOWARD: Well, they're actually in the process, are they not, of doing the application process to get the funds. I don't know that they've actually received them yet.

DUTTON: No, they have received some funds, but they have not received all of them. But these funds are restricted to the 10 percent that's going to be dedicated to the commissioner out of the funds received.

HOWARD: The 10 percent you're referring to is when the governor put out his press release with Speaker Phelan and Lieutenant Governor Patrick on April 28. It indicated that the spending of that—the grants for the state were going to be determined by the lieutenant governor, the speaker, Senators Nelson and Larry Taylor, and Representatives Greg Bonnen and Harold Dutton. So are y'all working on that now? Is that part of what this is about?

DUTTON: That's not part of this particular package. What this does is the learning loss that the federal government has identified that occurred during COVID, that they put in terms of how we ought to use the money, that's what this goes to. This is not part of any other scheme or use of the money.

HOWARD: I guess, really, what this gets down to for some of us is what's the need for this bill since we already have this spelled out by the federal government in terms of how that 10 percent can be used?

DUTTON: Well, the federal government says how it can be used. What this does is tell how we use it. And so what we're going to do is set up tutoring programs to the extent that districts would like to apply for this money, for this grant, so that now the students who were behind can get caught up.

It also specifies that the tutoring can only occur in—well, what we specified in the bill is students will get 30 hours of tutoring, and they can only have a one to three ratio in terms of teachers and students in the tutoring. It also specifies that in the tutoring of students, we won't use that as the basis for anything other than tutoring. For example, kids who were taking a particular class can't be pulled out of that class just to accommodate the tutoring. So what this does is provide an opportunity for those children, again, who are simply behind. And that is becoming a huge problem for us because what we've found out is that when students are behind, six years later, only four percent of those students get caught up. And that's because we haven't been doing the tutoring. Now, there is a provision in the statute that exists now that requires—well, it doesn't require—but it says school districts should do the tutoring. What this will do is for those school districts that believe they have huge problems with students' learning loss, they'll now be able to provide tutoring without any expense to them.

HOWARD: Chairman Dutton, I appreciate what you just said, and I agree with you. And I appreciate the intention here. I still haven't understood from the answers, though, why this bill is necessary since these things are already spelled out and TEA could require those things for the grants anyway.

DUTTON: Well, it's necessary because we put the money in the budget. We put the $230 million in the budget. If we don't do this, then it just sits over there.

HOWARD: It sits over where?

DUTTON: It just sits over at TEA to do nothing.

HOWARD: Why would it just sit there? Why would they not do anything with it?

DUTTON: Because there's no prescription from this legislature in what to do with it. And that's what this does.

HOWARD: Why would they need the legislature to prescribe what to do with the federal funds? Since those were spelled out by the feds?

DUTTON: Those are the discretionary funds. Again, I go back to that. Those are the discretionary funds that allow the states to do what they want to do with the money in certain categories. But if you don't pick out one of those categories to put the money in, it never happens. And so that's what this does. This says—

HOWARD: I appreciate that. I just don't understand what would prevent TEA from distributing this money—these grants—and why those decisions can't be made by them. I'm really still lost.

DUTTON: The school districts are in a better position to determine which of their students are failing and behind and need the help. What TEA is going to do is simply provide the money so that they can get that necessary help.

HOWARD: So we're talking about—I'm sorry, people are sending me questions—but my question to you still remains unanswered in terms of why TEA can't do this without us passing this. The federal government has already listed how these things can be spent. The money is there. You're part of the committee.

DUTTON: Well, let me see if I can help you real quick. We don't just send the TEA a lump of money in the budget. You recognize that, right? We don't just say, we're going to send TEA $200 million or $700 million for the school. So we don't just send them a bunch of money. But this legislature tells them how to spend the money. And what this does is, in keeping with that same spirit, we're simply telling TEA to use $230 million or so on providing grants to districts who want to participate in it for tutoring for those children who are behind.

HOWARD: Because we don't trust that the commissioner would do this anyway?

DUTTON: No, because he doesn't have any authority to do it unless we tell him.

HOWARD: Okay, that still doesn't make sense to me. But thank you anyway.

REPRESENTATIVE ALLEN: Representative Dutton, are you familiar with HB 3?

DUTTON: Absolutely.

ALLEN: In HB 3, there are provisions for children who are failing the test or affected by the COVID disaster.

DUTTON: Yes.

ALLEN: Do you know that there is money in that bill for tutoring programs?

DUTTON: I'm not aware of that.

ALLEN: Do you know then that we put $11.5 billion to stabilize HB 3?

DUTTON: That's part of the federal money that we got. That money came to us from the federal government, and we essentially have to provide it to school districts with no strings attached.

ALLEN: So did you know that there's money for free summer school for those children who are failing?

DUTTON: And this is in addition to that, Dr. Allen.

ALLEN: Okay. Did you also know that there's extra money in the school for tutorials for children who are failing?

DUTTON: I know that it hadn't been used very often. And so what this bill says is that now we're going to have tutoring and what we're going to do is we're going to make sure that it's effective tutoring using all the basic evidence that we have—evidence-based tutoring—so that what we'll now have is a prescription. The tutoring that we require now, it doesn't specify, for example, a student/teacher ratio. In this bill, there's a student/teacher ratio specified of one to three so that we can have effective tutoring for those children who have a significant learning loss.

ALLEN: Is this bill necessary to get that money distributed in the form of a grant?

DUTTON: Yes.

ALLEN: This bill is necessary? We can't do that now without providing a grant program?

DUTTON: Well, unless you want the commissioner to have authority that you didn't give him. So that's what this bill is necessary for.

ALLEN: What are the guidelines for distributing the money? What's the prerequisite for distributing the money for a child, a school, a district?

Sec. 351.111. ALLOCATION OF REVENUE FOR PUBLIC PARKS BY CERTAIN MUNICIPALITIES. (a) This section applies only to:

(1) a municipality described by Section 351.101(o);
(3) a municipality that is bisected by U.S. Highway 290 and is located in a county that:

The enhancement or improvement of the public park must be directly related to hotel activity that is attributable to public parks owned by the municipality.

(c) The amount of municipal hotel occupancy tax revenue a municipality may use in a fiscal year for a purpose authorized under this section may not exceed 10 percent of the amount of revenue the municipality collected from that tax during the preceding fiscal year.

(d) The amount of municipal hotel occupancy tax revenue a municipality may use in a fiscal year to enhance and improve an individual public park may not exceed the amount of area hotel revenue in the preceding fiscal year that was directly attributable to tourists who attended events held at that park or otherwise visited that park. (1) may, notwithstanding the limitation under Subsection (c), reserve not more than 10 percent of the revenue from that tax collected in a fiscal year for use under this section during the succeeding three fiscal years; and

(2) may not reduce the percentage of revenue from that tax allocated for a purpose described by Section 351.101(a)(3) to a percentage that is less than the average percentage of the revenue from that tax allocated by the municipality for the purpose described by Section 351.101(a)(3) during the 36-month period preceding the date the municipality begins using revenue for a purpose described by this section.

SB 19 ON THIRD READING (Capriglione - House Sponsor)

SB 19, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to prohibited contracts with companies that discriminate against the firearm or ammunition industries.

SB 19 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE HERRERO: I wanted to go over some of the provisions that were added last night through that amendment just to help me understand really the reasons for adding them. As I understand the purpose of this bill, an entity is not entitled to discriminate against a firearm company or a trade association solely for them being a firearm entity or a firearm trade organization. Is that the understanding of what the intent is of this bill?

REPRESENTATIVE CAPRIGLIONE: Of the bill and if you like, I can go over what the bill is, and then maybe if you'd like to, since you're going to ask about the amendment, I can go through the amendment now.

HERRERO: Yes. Go ahead, please.

CAPRIGLIONE: So what the bill does is it protects Texans' Second Amendment rights against unfair discrimination by companies. It will prevent any company with 10 or more employees from the benefits of state or other government contracts valued at $100,000 or more unless the company verifies in writing that it does not have an internal policy that discriminates against members of lawful firearm or ammunition industries. In terms of the amendment that I added last night, it does essentially four different things. It excludes "sole proprietorship" from the definition of "company." So I don't want to hurt small businesses, and they're not the target of the bill. It expands the definition of "discriminate." Stakeholders, which we've spoken to a lot of different stakeholders, have expressed concerns that the bill in its original form does not include provisions for them terminating a business relationship for nondiscriminatory reasons. So this change clarifies that. Third, the way the bill currently read before the amendment caused some confusion among stakeholders. So this change was made to clarify that the value of the contract should be worth at least $100,000, not the value of the company. And finally, it includes the provision for sole-source providers and for instances when a governmental entity does not receive a contract bid from a nondiscriminatory company. So those are four of the changes that that amendment did on SB 19.

HERRERO: Right, so let me, if I may, how did we come up with the $100,000 valuation on the contract? What's the basis for that?

CAPRIGLIONE: The basis was to look at the values of the contracts. In the past, I've looked at a lot of different contracts that the state enters into. And so from prior knowledge of contracts, in terms of where a good point to stop is, it happens to be $100,000 in some cases. In other cases, we do that at higher values depending on what it is, but we felt that a $100,000 contract with the state was a significant contract with the state.

HERRERO: And then under that same provision, it would be funds of $100,000 that come either wholly or partly from public funds. Am I reading this correctly?

CAPRIGLIONE: That is right, yes.

HERRERO: And I'm just trying to find out for legislative intent. Is it whether it's a penny or $100, it really doesn't matter as long as any part of that money for that contract worth $100,000 or more comes from governmental funds, then it would apply, correct?

CAPRIGLIONE: So any portion of that. Now, I have looked at enough contracts to know that it's rare, at least in what we're talking about, for it to be some sort of shared contract, right? It's rare for the state. Not that it doesn't happen, but it's very rare for the state to enter into a contract with multiple private entities that are also lending institutions.

HERRERO: And let me, if I may—I don't know if you have the amendment in front of you. So on page 1, line 15, it appears we carve out some exclusions to the provisions of the bill. Or better yet, I guess, reasons why an entity or a company that has a contract with the state of $100,000 or more would be entitled to, I guess, terminate a business relationship with an entity identified as either a firearm entity or a firearm trade association—am I understanding those provisions correctly as well? In other words, if they allow a company that would fall within the provisions of this bill to still say, "We understand this law exists; however, we've got one of those exceptions that were listed out in this amendment." Is that a fair statement?

CAPRIGLIONE: That's right. And if you look back, it essentially says if this is the sole reason, it's because of this.

HERRERO: Right, so if I may go through those. So in (B)(i), I'm trying to find out what are some examples of "established policies of a merchant, retail seller or platform." Give me some examples just to help me understand what that means.

CAPRIGLIONE: Well, let's say you're an online retail company, for instance. And let's say it's just not your business. Let's say, for instance, you sell shoes online.

HERRERO: Shoes? Is that what you said?

CAPRIGLIONE: Well, shoes, I'm just giving an example. If you're a shoe company, that obviously isn't an issue, right? Because that's an established purpose that you don't generally and have never sold firearms. So there's no expectation that if you're an online shoe or an online auto parts store that you would now be required under this legislation to get a state government contract.

So that's where it kind of meets in terms of original purpose. And what I'd also say is what the purpose of this is not to ban, right? I mean, there's no banning of the inability to do this. What this bill says is that if you are a company and primarily a lending institution that is solely discriminating against a company based on its purpose in the firearm or ammunition industry, that you won't be able to receive taxpayer dollars. I think I've answered your question, but what I do want to tell the members and the body is that the point of this is to say that the Constitution really only has one good in it, and that's in the Second Amendment, which specifically talks about the right for people to do this. And what we also know is that these institutions are heavily regulated, receive a lot of their ability to do business because of the government. And since it's a constitutional right, they should not be able to receive taxpayer dollars if they don't want to support the Constitution.

HERRERO: Are there some current examples of an entity that has done something like this and discriminated against a trade association or a firearm entity that now, under the provisions of this bill, if they were to fall within the provisions of the bill, would no longer be able to do whatever it was that they were doing that is now under the bill determined to be discriminatory?

CAPRIGLIONE: I do. I have quite a few examples of these issues. But I'll give you an example in terms of one big bank that currently has a policy that discriminates against any business that sells firearms to anyone under the age of 21 or makes or sells high-capacity magazines. And here's the thing: It is legal under federal and Texas state law for those under 21 to purchase long guns and shotguns. So that's one example. Another large bank—

HERRERO: I'm sorry. What I'm trying to find out is, what issue are we trying to address that currently exists? In other words, is there an entity now, a business, that receives a contract of $100,000 or more that has been discriminating against a firearm entity or a firearm trade association that now, once the bill becomes effective, would no longer be able to do that and still receive the benefits of that contract? I'm trying to figure out what issue are we trying to address that exists now that under the bill would be prohibited.

CAPRIGLIONE: Yes. The answers are, simply, yes. I have one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, 10, 11, 12 just here of companies—

HERRERO: Yes, but what are those? I don't—

CAPRIGLIONE: They're mostly financial institutions, larger institutions, that have the policy—

HERRERO: That say what? You can't transact? Give me an example. If I go to this entity that you're talking about that under the provisions of this bill would be prohibited from discriminating against these types of entities, where would this come into play? I don't understand what we're trying to do here.

CAPRIGLIONE: Okay, so there are current contracts, and this bill doesn't deal with current contracts.

HERRERO: They're what kind of contracts?

CAPRIGLIONE: Current—current contracts. So let's say there's a current contract right now. This bill doesn't talk about that. But if we're talking about new contracts, new procurements, and so on, so yes, the answer is there are companies today that have policies that say that they are not going to lend—

HERRERO: Companies such as what? Give me some examples.

CAPRIGLIONE: Sure. There's a lot of big banks that do it. I have listed on here Bank of America, Citigroup, Intuit, JPMorgan Chase, Paypal, Square, U.S. Bank, Wells Fargo.

HERRERO: So lending institutions or banks, for example, have provisions that say what? Like if I go borrow—go ahead.

CAPRIGLIONE: So, yes. That's what I was reading. So for instance, Citigroup has a policy discriminating against any business that sells firearms to anyone under the age of 21, even though today it is legal under federal and state law for those under 21 to be able to purchase long guns and shotguns. That's one example. Another bank—

HERRERO: So if I'm one of those companies that sells firearms, for example, if I own a gun shop, for example, and I want to go apply for money with a bank—let's say one of those that you mentioned—then they would be, under the provisions of this bill, discriminating against me and because of that they wouldn't be able to have a contract with the state that's worth $100,000 or more? Is that right?

CAPRIGLIONE: Well, first, right now our estimate is that 75 percent of the firearm industry in Texas has been discriminated against by banks. So it is happening. It's happening to a lot of individuals. But if you look at the bill and the way that we've written it, especially with the amendment, the answer to your question is "not quite." Because if banks still have their fiduciary duties to go and do—

HERRERO: I'm sorry, Representative. It's very difficult to hear. And I'm really trying to understand. If I can summarize: So if there's entities out there such as these banking institutions that you've mentioned that prohibit someone from engaging in a business that would either be defined as a firearm trade organization or—

CAPRIGLIONE: Preventing from lending to a business.

HERRERO: I'm sorry?

CAPRIGLIONE: They can't prevent someone from engaging in the business, right? They can, however—I mean, because you had said preventing them from engaging in a business. They can't do that.

HERRERO: If I don't own a business and I want to open up a firearm entity to sell guns, and I've gotten every permit that I needed to get, and I go to the bank for a loan, they can't say, "Well, I'm sorry, we can't loan you money because you are in this type"—

CAPRIGLIONE: Because you're that type of company, right. That's right.

HERRERO: All right. But if this person or entity that I go to borrow money from is the sole proprietor, then they wouldn't fall under the provisions of the bill, correct?

CAPRIGLIONE: That's right. If they're a sole proprietor, they would not.

HERRERO: And then there's a provision that talks about, on page 3, line 18 and to the end of, I guess, Subsection (c): "does not apply to a governmental entity that" and then it says "contracts with a sole-source provider." Why would we make that exception?

CAPRIGLIONE: Well, that was not my—when we worked on this bill, we talked to a lot of different groups. And in some cases, a governmental entity needs a service or a product or whatever it is. They need that to conduct their constitutional or statutory obligations. And in those cases, there may only be one company that can provide that service. We have similar statute on sole source in other parts of our procurement.

HERRERO: So if you wouldn't be able to otherwise retain the services that that individual or entity is providing, either because they're the sole-source provider or because of the other exception, there were no other bids, then essentially the provisions of this bill would exclude those types of circumstances. Is that correct?

CAPRIGLIONE: That's right. That is, I hope, a one-off thing. But I hope for myself, even outside of this bill, that's a one-off situation. I always find it—I don't know what the right word is—but I would prefer, obviously, for any government contract that we have, that there's a competitive marketplace, that the bids and the procurement and the RFIs and all of that is written in a way that would provide as many market participants as possible for the benefit of taxpayers. And in this particular case as it relates to my bill, I would imagine that this ends up making things more competitive in general. But in the off chance that there's only one company that can do what the government entity has, we provided that exception.

Amendment No. 1

Representative Goodwin offered the following amendment to SB 19:

Amend SB 19 on third reading in SECTION 1 of the bill, in Section 2274.002(c), Government Code, as added by Amendment No. 1 by Capriglione, as follow:

(1) In Subdivision (1) of the subsection, immediately following the underlined semicolon, strike "or".

(2) In Subdivision (2) of the subsection, between "subsection" and the underlined period, insert the following:

; or

(3) determines the requirement is inconsistent with the entity's constitutional or statutory duties related to the issuance of debt obligations or the deposit or investment of funds

REPRESENTATIVE GOODWIN: I'm really not sure why we need to have this firearm industry protection Act in the first place. However, given that it's in front of us, I do have an amendment due to a concern brought to me. This amendment adds an exemption that was in the house companion to SB 19 which provided a specific exemption for governmental entities solely related to their constitutional or statutory duties to the issuance of debt. My local officials have serious concerns that the provisions stipulating with whom they can bank will potentially void their depository contract and have a severe impact on city operations. Specifically, the main concern is that the lack of this provision could impact bond issuances. Generally, only large banks respond to requests for proposals related to debt issuance, and this bill, without the exemption and language in my amendment, will severely limit who can underwrite those proposals. This amendment addresses those concerns.

REPRESENTATIVE ISRAEL: Representative Goodwin, thanks for your amendment. But I wanted to ask, do you have any examples of the kinds of transactions that occur between large institutions and cities? What do they do? What's the service that they provide?

GOODWIN: Well, for example, bond issuances that allow the city to build a fire station, for example, or anything, roads, whatever they need to do that requires a large amount of money and a bond issuance.

ISRAEL: So the presumption is that for a city to get this best value from a financial institution, if we don't pass your amendment, we're layering on another restriction from cities being able to spend their money in the smartest way possible on behalf of growth and development and planning and smart use of taxpayer dollars. That's how I read it. Is that correct?

GOODWIN: That's exactly correct. We need to be very careful with our taxpayer dollars and we need to have options and choices and competition. That's what allows us to get the best bang for our buck. And so we certainly don't want to limit our cities.

CAPRIGLIONE: I'm going to be opposing this amendment. And just to be clear in terms of what the costs are, in the State of Louisiana, there are two banks that were not allowed to participate in a $600 million bond offering, and the estimated cost was about $50,000 off of that $600 million bond. So when people ask me what the cost of freedom is, I will always say, more than $50,000. Please join me in voting no on this amendment.

GOODWIN: Members, please help me to support our cities in their ability to do business the way that they need to do business and support this amendment.

A record vote was requested by Representative Wu.

REPRESENTATIVE WU: I try not to be up here too much. I kind of learned my lesson my first session. But I will be up here every time that we have a bill that implicates the First Amendment. I will be up here every time that we pass a law that restricts people's ability to think and to speak and to have their freedom to say what they want to say and boycott what they want to boycott and support what they want to support. We've done bills to force people to speak, force them to take oaths. We've done bills to make people swear they will not do something else. We've had bills that make people say they will support something. All of these are unconstitutional. All of these things will eventually get to court. And every session I sit on Appropriations, we always go ask the AG how much money have we spent defending unconstitutional laws that this state has passed, and that number every single session goes up and up and up and up. And yet this body that says that you care about fiscal conservatism, you care about the budget, you care about what we're spending money on, you don't care that we pass these bills to check boxes off, but it costs our state a quarter million, a half million, a million dollars in legal fees. Every single session you pass these bills that will eventually get struck down by the courts. I would urge you to vote no on this bill. We don't need a thought police. We don't need speech police. Let Texans be.

CAPRIGLIONE: If I could just quickly respond to Representative Wu's comments, which is this bill does not affect private individuals, okay? The Second Amendment is an absolute right delineated in the Bill of Rights by our constitutional freedoms. Private businesses are not guaranteed any constitutional rights. And so businesses under this bill and before this bill and anytime are absolutely free to remain to do so under the provisions of this legislation. It's just that they cannot expect taxpayer dollars to fund their erosion of our constitutional rights.

REPRESENTATIVE DAVIS: I'm trying to understand how we measure or how we will determine if a company or industry is discriminating against these other folks. Is it a simple disclosure that we won't discriminate against these kinds of companies? Or what is it we're going to do? How are we going to manage that?

CAPRIGLIONE: That's a great question. What I would say is that first of all, this is only for companies who are seeking to get taxpayer dollars, so this is a small subset of companies who are trying to receive public funds. So that's first. Second—

DAVIS: Wait, excuse me. Will you repeat that? I couldn't hear what you were saying.

CAPRIGLIONE: So first, what I want to make clear is that this is not for all businesses. This is only for those businesses that seek to receive taxpayer dollars. So this is those that are attempting to be part of a contract where they would receive state dollars. It's only for those businesses.

DAVIS: Let me just—because I'm having a hard time hearing. This is for companies that seek to do business with public entities for public dollars. Is that correct?

CAPRIGLIONE: That's right.

DAVIS: And so they might have goods or services that they provide to the state or to our cities or whatever.

CAPRIGLIONE: Yes, you're right.

DAVIS: So a contractual bid for something that we buy or a commodity or whatever, right?

CAPRIGLIONE: Right, and all of those companies, because of a whole bunch of other procurement and government rules that are already in place, they have to provide a lot of information, right? They have to fill out a whole host of language in terms of whether they discriminate, whether they follow federal laws, whether they're—there's a whole bunch of due diligence.

DAVIS: And I understand that, so—

CAPRIGLIONE: And one of those additional requirements that they will have is that they will attest to the fact that they do not have any of these discriminatory policies and that if they get into a contract with the state, that they will not during the time of that contract create some of those.

DAVIS: So it's a simple disclosure for every entity that's trying to do business with the state or some other public entity. They have to disclose that they will not discriminate against these kinds of entities. Is that correct?

CAPRIGLIONE: That's exactly right.

DAVIS: Okay. So as that disclosure's put in place, does that mean they have to do business with them? Could a company that discloses that they're not doing business with them, if they don't do business with these companies, are they going to be penalized under this guise of discrimination against them?

CAPRIGLIONE: Can you repeat the question? I'm not sure I fully got it. Can you just say it again?

DAVIS: So my question is, companies that might not do business with these companies that have firearm and ammunition industries—there might be companies that they don't do business with and they do business with other industry folks—are they going to be subjected to a discrimination claim because they didn't do business with those particular companies?

CAPRIGLIONE: Oh, I get what you're saying. No, if a business does not want to support our Second Amendment, if a business does not want to provide loans or other services to that industry, they'll still be free to do that. That's on them. But they just can't expect to get a government contract.

DAVIS: Why are we taking our companies, our businesses in Texas, why are we setting up barriers for them to do business with our public entities? I mean, if it's a simple disclosure that says it is not my intent to discriminate against anything and anybody, that's one thing. But now we're setting out this criteria for companies that can do business with the state that suggests it has to be this kind of business or not. And I'm wondering, how do we measure that? If you've got a contract and there are multiple companies and we never do business with these two, with the firearm or ammunition industry, but we can get it from somewhere else, are they going to be subject to a discrimination suit?

CAPRIGLIONE: If you support the Second Amendment and you're willing to treat companies based on, let's say in this case, their financials or other due diligence that's standard in terms of they're a legitimate company that should receive credit based on their own credit due diligence or their investment committee, if they're able to do that, then that should happen regardless of who they are or what they do.

DAVIS: Right, and so that's why I was asking. What would we be measuring? Because, you know, we struggle with whether or not somebody's been discriminated if they are of different ethnicity or different sexual orientation—we struggle with defining that discrimination. And I'm wondering, what are we going to measure that will make this be less cumbersome so we don't have companies just automatically excluded from doing business?

CAPRIGLIONE: Well, I hope that companies today don't struggle with deciding on those discriminatory topics at all, Representative. I hope it's pretty clear to companies, whether it's in Texas or anywhere else in the United States, that they should not, cannot, will not discriminate against people because of their gender or because of their affiliations or anything like that. So I hope that part is clear. What I would say, though, in response is this is even clearer. I mean, it's pretty clear whether you're a firearm manufacturer or not, whether you're an ammunition manufacturer or not. I mean, this is almost as clear as it can be. You're either a firearms company or you sell firearms or you make firearms or you do not. So I don't see the gray here.

DAVIS: My gray area is if I've got multiple companies, do they all say that they don't discriminate and the person who doesn't get the contract says they discriminated against me because of some other kind of deal? I mean, we struggle with—

CAPRIGLIONE: Oh, no, no, no, no, no. That's like a degree of separation. This is not about a contract with the firearm company or not. This is about discrimination by someone who maybe lends to a firearm company or not.

ISRAEL: Representative, are we here at this point because after the El Paso and Odessa shootings a lot of corporate America stood up and said this is unacceptable and they took strong stances against the NRA?

CAPRIGLIONE: No, it's not. And if you will, I'll just share with you a little about the history of where this came from. And just for the record, I had the privilege and honor of being on the Mass Violence Prevention Committee, the select committee, during the interim, and I went to El Paso. But this bill has nothing to do with that. In fact, it was in 2013, well before that, that the Obama administration began a program code-named Operation Choke Point. It's used by the FDIC and the Department of Justice to choke off essential financial service members of the firearm and ammunition industries. So this has a lot more to do, has only to do, with the fact that everyone in the U.S. should be afforded, absolutely, the rights that are in our Constitution. And so that's what this bill is entirely aimed at.

ISRAEL: So you're more concerned with the Second Amendment than you are with the freedom of speech?

CAPRIGLIONE: No. In fact, I don't know why people keep talking about that, with all due respect on the First Amendment, because certain businesses and especially these businesses, they're not afforded those rights, right? The rights of the First Amendment are afforded to individuals. And every company can and still shall be able to do what they like outside of my bill, but they cannot expect to get our citizens' taxpayer dollars if they're not agreeable to the Second Amendment.

ISRAEL: Okay. The other question I have is about the best value for the taxpayer. My other concern about your bill is that we're sacrificing the best value to the State of Texas. There are probably hundreds if not thousands of state employees whose job it is to buy things for the State of Texas. So is it your position that if Company A sells computers for $1,000 apiece and Company B sells computers for $900 apiece, that we go with Company A and pay more money because they have not taken a stance against an NRA-type of organization? Are you willing to sacrifice value for political views on groups like the NRA?

CAPRIGLIONE: There's a point where we've got to decide what our freedoms and liberties are worth. The answer is I think most contracts, especially when it comes to this, are very competitive. And I would imagine that in most of these cases if there's only one or two participants in it, sure, there may be one or two companies that can't apply for this. But what I would say is it opens up the market for others who are willing to stand for our constitutional rights.

REPRESENTATIVE ANCHIA: I wasn't planning to even get up here. I did hear you say something kind of interesting that I just wanted to test with you. You said the Second Amendment was absolute earlier. Do you believe that?

CAPRIGLIONE: I believe it is a fundamental right given to all American citizens in this country, yes.

ANCHIA: Do you believe it's absolute, which were your words on the front mic earlier? Or would you like to clarify that statement?

CAPRIGLIONE: Of course it's a fundamental right. I hope we can all agree. Maybe we don't all agree on other things, but I hope—

ANCHIA: You said ab-so-lute, three syllables. You used that word. Do you believe that the Second Amendment is absolute?

CAPRIGLIONE: I think it's in the Constitution and a fundamental right of all. I don't know if your definition of absolute is fair.

ANCHIA: So you don't believe it's absolute but you do believe it's fundamental.

CAPRIGLIONE: I don't know what you're getting at, but absolutely I believe that the Second Amendment is a fundamental right of all American citizens.

ANCHIA: So you would agree with me then it is not an absolute right and subject to restriction. Or if you didn't take my word for it, maybe you'd take Justice Scalia's word for it in the Heller case, which was cited in the Supreme Court, that made very obvious that the Second Amendment is not an absolute right. Are you familiar with that case?

CAPRIGLIONE: No, I'm not. I'm not a lawyer.

ANCHIA: Well, I just want to disabuse anybody of the notion, especially when one stands up and says that the Second Amendment is an absolute right, that the Supreme Court has ruled, even very recently in the Heller case, that it is not an absolute right and subject to reasonable restrictions. I want to go back to the First Amendment, because you also said something interesting about the law.

CAPRIGLIONE: Representative, if I can just interrupt you for a second. This bill is not about relitigating the court case you just mentioned. It's not about whether or not you and I disagree on why or if citizens of Texas should have the right to bear arms. What this is about is simply saying—regardless of your position and the difference between maybe yours and mine—what this bill is about is saying that if you are an entity that primarily receives a lot of benefits from the public and, quite frankly, a lot of benefits from the government, that those shall support and defend the U.S. Constitution.

ANCHIA: With respect, I know what the bill does. I was just trying to probe your statement on the front mic that the Second Amendment was absolute. Because that is a fundamental misstatement even in the wildest interpretations of the Second Amendment that would be held by no court in this country. And so when you say at the front mic that the Second Amendment is absolute, I got interested in that and wanted to probe that with you in light of what constitutional jurisprudence is and what the state of the law is in the United States today. Because when you say that from the front mic, it provides some intent as to your frame of mind when you bring this bill to the floor. And so I also want to ask you, because I know what the bill says, I just—I'm trying to get at your intent. The First Amendment—you said earlier that companies don't have First Amendment rights. Do you remember saying that in your dialogue? You also know that is not the correct state of the law post the Citizens United case, correct? Where the Supreme Court, also a republican-appointed majority, said that corporations do have First Amendment rights?

CAPRIGLIONE: Well, let me ask you, if we're going to probe and not really talk about this bill and not talk about this amendment—

ANCHIA: I'm trying to probe at what your intent is because you've made a couple of different misstatements on the state of jurisprudence in America.

CAPRIGLIONE: Do you agree with how Scalia and other justices on that court approved of the Citizens United case?

ANCHIA: I think the Citizens United case is troubling, but whether or not I agree with it, Representative Capriglione, it happens to be the state of the law in the United States. And so I heard from the front mic that you were taking issue with the state of the law and actually misstating it. So I wanted to make sure that we corrected the record.

CAPRIGLIONE: Again, with all respect, Mr. Chairman, what I heard is that you agree with Scalia on one ruling but not on the other.

ANCHIA: Is it your position in this bill that you can say positive things about ammunition and firearms but you cannot say negative things if you are a company?

CAPRIGLIONE: People can say whatever they want under this bill. This is not restrictive.

ANCHIA: Okay. If companies take policy positions where they—

CAPRIGLIONE: They can take policy positions. This bill does not—

ANCHIA: —that they do not want to do business with ammunition or firearms, that is a form of speech, would you agree?

CAPRIGLIONE: This is not a bill that says a company cannot have a policy position, and it doesn't. What it says is you can't have a policy position and expect to get taxpayer dollars.

ANCHIA: So you will be punished for—

CAPRIGLIONE: Not punished. You're not being punished. You're not being punished. There is no penalty at all.

ANCHIA: So you will be punished by being unable to do business with the State of Texas if you have a policy position, and so you're favoring one speech on this over another speech or policy position as an extension of speech. Is that right? You're saying you can do business if you have this idea; you can't do business if you have this other idea, right?

CAPRIGLIONE: I would think that at some point we could agree that there's certain speech that if a company gives—outside of this legislation, nothing to do with firearms—but I hope we can agree that there's certain discriminatory speech.

ANCHIA: Agreed, stipulated.

CAPRIGLIONE: That if a company takes or if a position that they take is discriminatory, I hope that you and I would agree that there's already rules in place, laws in place, that say that the government shouldn't support, shouldn't provide—

ANCHIA: And the follow-up question to that statement, Mr. Capriglione, is are guns and ammunition a protected class under the law? And they are not.

CAPRIGLIONE: But the fundamental part of your argument is should a company just because of what they say not get taxpayer dollars. I think you agree—

ANCHIA: Because discrimination happens against people who are in a protected class under the law. Is that not right?

CAPRIGLIONE: I think you agree with me that there are certain things that a company may have as its policy that should relegate them to not having taxpayer dollars. Do we agree on that?

ANCHIA: Against protected classes under the law you are absolutely correct and we are entirely in agreement.

CAPRIGLIONE: I would say the Second Amendment is a protected part of our law.

ANCHIA: The Second Amendment is not a protected class of people, sir. That is a misstatement of the law.

CAPRIGLIONE: I didn't say a protected class of people. It said it was protected.

ANCHIA: That is your third misstatement of the law in this bill layout, sir.

CAPRIGLIONE: Just because you say it's a mistake, it's not.

REPRESENTATIVE CROCKETT: The previous speaker took the majority of my questions which was, when did the Second Amendment become a protected class?

CAPRIGLIONE: I did not say it was a protected class. He put those words in my mouth. I said it was protected.

CROCKETT: Okay, so let me be clear. When we talk about discrimination, we're normally talking about discrimination of a group of people that are in protected classes. That's going to be those because of their religious freedoms. That's going to be those because of the color of their skin. That's going to be those because of their sex, that's going to be those because of their age. And so what I'm curious to know is if there is any other state that has gone so far as to attempt to make the Second Amendment a portion of the protected persons of classes?

CAPRIGLIONE: Okay, again, I did not say protected persons or protected class. This bill doesn't do that. I have no idea if other states do that. What I will say is we have—and your point is well taken in terms of protected classes of individual. However, here in Texas we have and I have—and I don't think it came up this session but it has in the past—to make these similar types of decisions. Whether it was about investments on individuals who boycott Israel or those who may invest in Iran, if you go through our public investments documents and our law when it relates to this, it's pretty clear that we have items outside of individuals that we do and do not already today in law, not just this session but in prior sessions, do that.

MAJOR STATE CALENDAR HOUSE BILLS THIRD READING

The following bills were laid before the house and read third time:

HB 2730 ON THIRD READING

(by Deshotel, Burns, Geren, K. King, Canales, et al.)

HB 2730, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the acquisition of real property by an entity with eminent domain authority and the regulation of easement or right-of-way agents.

HB 2730 - STATEMENT OF LEGISLATIVE INTENT

REPRESENTATIVE BURNS: TFB and other stakeholders have negotiated the bill. They signed a letter of support that included an agreement to allow five years to pass before proposing, seeking, advocating for, promoting, encouraging, or agreeing to additional major reforms to the eminent domain process. Does that commitment prevent cleanup legislation next session to address any oversights or unintended consequences that might arise from the implementation of HB 2730?

REPRESENTATIVE DESHOTEL: No, sir, it does not. We simply want to give it time to work, but of course, if there's cleanup language or clarifying language, it does not apply.

BURNS: Excellent. Is it also your intent to prevent stakeholders from advocating for legislation to address any unforeseen negative impact the legislation may have on either condemners or property owners?

DESHOTEL: No, that would not be my intent, sir.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

Representative Burns moved to print remarks between Representative Deshotel and Representative Burns on HB 2730.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the senate was received at this time (see the addendum to the daily journal, Messages from the Senate, Message No. 1).

COMMITTEE MEETING ANNOUNCEMENT

At 2:36 p.m., the following committee meeting was announced:

Licensing and Administrative Procedures, upon afternoon recess today, Desk 67, for a formal meeting, to consider pending and referred business.

CSHB 3920 ON SECOND READING(by Dean)

CSHB 3920, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to an application to vote early by mail on the grounds of disability or confinement for child birth.

CSHB 3920 was read second time on May 10, postponed until 6:15 p.m. May 10, amendments were offered and disposed of, and CSHB 3920 was again postponed until 10 a.m. today.

CSHB 3920 - POINT OF ORDER

Representative J. González raised a point of order against further consideration of CSHB 3920 under Rule 4, Section 18, and Rule 4, Section 32(b)(9), of the House Rules. The point of order was overruled and the speaker submitted the following ruling:

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

on House Bill 3920

Announced in the House on May 12, 2021

Representative González of Dallas raises a point of order against further consideration of CSHB 3920 under Rule 4, Section 18, and Rule 4, Section 32(b)(9), of the House Rules on the grounds that the minutes are inaccurate and the summary of committee action is materially misleading.

Ms. González notes that during the committee's consideration of the bill on April 15th, the minutes list a sequence of actions in which testimony was taken before a committee substitute was laid out. She notes that the summary of committee action lists the layout of the committee substitute before testimony was taken. She argues that the summary of committee action impeaches the minutes and that it leaves the reader with the false impression that the witnesses present at the hearing testified on the committee substitute, rather than the original bill.

The rules require the minutes to record the committee's proceedings. See 75 H. Jour. 2584 (1997). The rules require the summary of committee action to summarize those proceedings. The rules do not require that the summary of committee action be a chronological recitation of those proceedings, although that may be the better practice. The purpose of the committee report's documentation that testimony was taken is to provide Members and the public with sufficient information to contact witnesses to determine why they testified as they did. See 75 H. Jour. 3895-3896 (1997). Here, this purpose has been satisfied by both the minutes and the committee report.

Accordingly, the point of order is respectfully overruled.

CSHB 3920, as amended, was passed to engrossment. (Herrero recorded voting no.)

CSHB 3916 ON SECOND READING(by Goldman)

CSHB 3916, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the interconnection and operation of certain distributed electric generation facilities.

CSHB 3916 was read second time on May 12 and was postponed until 10 a.m. today.

Amendment No. 1

Representative Goldman offered the following amendment to CSHB 3916:

Amend CSHB 3916 (house committee printing) by striking all below the enacting clause and substituting the following:

SECTION 1. It is the intent of the legislature in enacting Section 35.037, Utilities Code, to allow grocers the ability to deploy back-up generation in the ERCOT power region in areas that have not implemented retail customer choice.

SECTION 2. Subchapter B, Chapter 35, Utilities Code, is amended by adding Section 35.037 to read as follows:

Sec. 35.037. INTERCONNECTION AND OPERATION OF CERTAIN DISTRIBUTED GENERATION FACILITIES FOR FOOD SUPPLY CHAIN. (a) In this section:

(1) "Customer" means a retail electric customer:

(A) with a distributed generation facility installed on the retail electric customer's side of the meter; and

(B) that has a primary purpose of or derives a material source of revenue from:

(i) retail grocery sales; or

(ii) food manufacturing or distribution for retail grocery sales.

(2) "Distributed generation facility" means a facility installed on the customer's side of the meter but separately metered from the customer:

(A) with a nameplate capacity of at least 250 kilowatts and not more than 10 megawatts;

(B) that is capable of generating and providing backup or supplementary power to the customer's premises; and

(C) that is owned or operated by a person registered as a power generation company in accordance with Section 39.351.

(b) This section only applies in the ERCOT power region in areas where retail customer choice has not been implemented.

(c) A person who owns or operates a distributed generation facility served by a municipally owned utility or electric cooperative in the ERCOT power region may sell electric power generated by the distributed generation facility at wholesale, including the provision of ancillary services.

(d) A person who owns or operates a distributed generation facility may sell electric power generated by the distributed generation facility at wholesale to a municipally owned utility or electric cooperative certificated for retail service to the area where the distributed generation facility is located or to a related generation and transmission electric cooperative. The municipally owned utility or electric cooperative shall purchase the quantity of electric power generated by the distributed generation facility needed to satisfy the full electric requirements of the customer on whose side of the meter the distributed generation facility is installed and operated at a wholesale price agreed to by the customer and shall resell that quantity of power at retail to the customer at the rate applicable to the customer for retail service, which must include all amounts paid for the wholesale electric power, during:

(1) an emergency declared by the independent organization certified under Section 39.151 for the ERCOT power region that creates the potential for interruption of service to the customer;

(2) any service interruption at the customer's premises;

(3) construction on the customer's premises that creates the potential for interruption of service to the customer;

(4) maintenance and testing of the distributed generation facility; and

(5) additional times mutually agreed on by the owner or operator of the distributed generation facility and the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative.

(e) The customer shall provide written notice as soon as reasonably practicable to the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative of a circumstance described by Subsection (d)(3) or (4).

(f) In addition to a sale authorized under Subsection (d), on request by an owner or operator of a distributed generation facility, the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative shall provide wholesale transmission service to the distributed generation facility owner in the same manner as to other power generation companies for the sale of power from the distributed generation facility at wholesale, including for the provision of ancillary services, in the ERCOT market. The distributed generation facility owner shall comply with all applicable commission rules and protocols and with governing documents of the independent organization certified under Section 39.151 for the ERCOT power region. This subsection does not require a municipally owned utility or electric cooperative to transmit electricity to a retail point of delivery in the certificated service area of the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative.

(g) In addition to a sale authorized under Subsection (d) or (f), a municipally owned utility or electric cooperative or related generation and transmission electric cooperative may purchase electric power provided by the owner or operator of the distributed generation facility at wholesale at a mutually agreed on price. The price may be based wholly or partly on the ERCOT market clearing price of energy at the time of day and at the location at which the electric power is made available.

(h) A municipally owned utility or electric cooperative shall make available a standard interconnection application and agreement for distributed generation facilities that is substantially similar to the commission's distributed generation interconnection agreement form and consistent with this section to facilitate the connection of distributed generation facilities. A municipally owned utility or electric cooperative shall allow interconnection of a distributed generation facility and provide to a distributed generation facility on a nondiscriminatory basis wholesale transmission service, including at distribution voltage, in the same manner as for other power generation companies to transmit to the ERCOT power grid the electric power generated by the distributed generation facility. A municipally owned utility or electric cooperative may recover from the owner or operator of the distributed generation facility all reasonable costs necessary for and directly attributable to the interconnection of the facility, including the reasonable costs of necessary system upgrades and improvements directly attributable to the distributed generation facility.

(i) Not later than the 30th day after the date a complete application for interconnection of a distributed generation facility is received, the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative shall provide the applicant with a written good faith cost estimate for interconnection-related costs. The municipally owned utility or electric cooperative may not incur any interconnection-related costs without entering into a written agreement for the payment of those costs by the applicant.

(j) The process to interconnect a distributed generation facility must be completed not later than the 240th day after the date the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative receives payment of all estimated costs to complete the interconnection, except that:

(1) the period may be extended by written agreement between the parties; and

(2) the period may be extended after a good faith showing by the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative that the interconnection requires improvements, upgrades, or construction of new facilities that cannot reasonably be completed within that period, in which case the period may be extended for a time not to exceed the time necessary for the improvements, upgrades, or construction of new facilities to be completed.

(k) A municipally owned utility or electric cooperative shall charge the owner or operator of a distributed generation facility rates on a reasonable and nondiscriminatory basis for providing wholesale transmission service to the distributed generation facility owner in the same manner as for other power generation companies to transmit to the ERCOT power grid the electric power generated by the distributed generation facility in accordance with a tariff filed by the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative with the commission.

(l) The owner or operator of the distributed generation facility shall contract with the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative or the municipally owned utility's or electric cooperative's designee for any scheduling, settlement, communication, telemetry, or other services required to participate in the ERCOT wholesale market, but only to the extent that the utility, cooperative, or designee offers the services on a nondiscriminatory basis and at a commercially reasonable cost. If the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative or the municipally owned utility's or electric cooperative's designee does not offer or declines to offer the services, or fails to do so on a nondiscriminatory basis and at a commercially reasonable cost as determined by quotes from at least three third parties providing the same services, the owner or operator of the distributed generation facility may contract with a third party provider to obtain the services.

(m) A distributed generation facility must comply with emissions limitations established by the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality for a standard emissions permit for an electric generation facility unit installed after January 1, 1995.

(n) A municipally owned utility or electric cooperative is not required to interconnect a distributed generation facility under this section if, on the date the utility or cooperative receives an application for interconnection of the facility, the municipally owned utility or electric cooperative has interconnected distributed generation facilities with an aggregate capacity that equals the lesser amount of:

(1) 5 percent of the municipally owned utility's or electric cooperative's average of the 15-minute summer peak load coincident with the independent system operator's 15-minute summer peak load in each of the months of June, July, August, and September; or

(2) 300 megawatts, adjusted annually by the percentage of total system load growth in the ERCOT power region beginning in 2022.

(o) A municipally owned utility or electric cooperative that, on the date the utility or cooperative receives an application for interconnection of a distributed generation facility, has interconnected distributed generation facilities with an aggregate capacity less than the threshold described by Subsection (n) is required to increase that capacity only up to that threshold.

(p) This section is not intended to change registration standards or other qualifications required by the independent organization certified under Section 39.151 for the ERCOT power region related to the participation of distributed generation facilities in the wholesale market. This section is not intended to allow distributed generation facilities to participate in a manner that is not technically feasible or that is otherwise in conflict with wholesale rules and requirements adopted by the independent organization certified under Section 39.151 for the ERCOT power region.

SECTION 3. This Act takes effect immediately if it receives a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, as provided by Section 39, Article III, Texas Constitution. If this Act does not receive the vote necessary for immediate effect, this Act takes effect September 1, 2021.

Amendment No. 1 was adopted.

CSHB 3916, as amended, was passed to engrossment.

HB 3251 ON SECOND READING

(by E. Thompson)

HB 3251, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the use of unmanned aircraft.

HB 3251 - POINT OF ORDER

Representative Schaefer raised a point of order against further consideration of HB 3251 under Rule 4, Section 32(c)(2), of the House Rules. The point of order was sustained and the speaker submitted the following ruling:

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

on House Bill 3251

Announced in the House on May 13, 2021

Representative Schaefer raises a point of order against further consideration of HB 3251 under Rule 4, Section 32(c)(2), of the House Rules on the grounds that the bill analysis is materially misleading.

Among other things, Mr. Schaefer argues that the analysis does not accurately describe the changes in law made by the bill to the circumstances in which law enforcement may operate a drone over private property.

Under current law, law enforcement may operate a drone over private property if the property is generally open to the public and the property owner consents to the use for "law enforcement public safety responsibilities," a term undefined by current law. The bill would prohibit law enforcement from operating a drone over private property unless law enforcement obtained the property owner's consent to a search for one of five specific and narrow purposes.

The bill analysis omits any mention of the requirement that an owner must waive the owner's Fourth Amendment rights before law enforcement may operate a drone over the owner's property. Moreover, the analysis uses the broad and undefined term that the bill strikes from current law in attempting to describe the proposed changes that are much narrower in scope and application. The analysis is materially misleading because it does not accurately describe the changes in legal rights and duties made by the bill.

Accordingly, the point of order is well-taken and sustained.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

AMENDMENT NO. 3 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE SLATON: This amendment is a clarifying amendment. It adds sex and the name of the student, some definitions, and we left the postal service out of this one.

REPRESENTATIVE ANCHIA: The purpose of this bill was to try to get students identification, much like the Krause bill that we heard earlier on the calendar, because it's really important for students at public schools, especially in the open enrollment charter schools, to get student IDs and also traditional public schools to the extent they do it, although about 70 percent of them do. The amendment that we have before you today is, I guess, focused on the sex and the birth certificate name of the student. The reason I took the Schofield amendment earlier on this bill is because he was concerned, and I think rightfully so, that having a date of birth would provide too much identifying information on the student ID. And I agreed with that. I thought that was too much. That's why that amendment was acceptable to the author. But the goal of Mr. Slaton's amendment goes much farther in providing identification information for young people on their card. So if you were for the Schofield amendment that says, "Hey, let's take off the date of birth," because we're concerned about that being on a student ID, you should definitely be against this amendment because this requires information far beyond what the original bill went toward, including a student's birth certificate name and their sex, which I think is extraneous to the bill's purpose.

REPRESENTATIVE NEAVE: Chairman Anchia, can you talk to us about the Supreme Court case Plyler v. Doe?

ANCHIA: Certainly, although that case may be beyond the scope of what this bill is trying to do. But in Plyler, they said that all students regardless of race, ethnicity, citizenship status, residency, were entitled to a public education.

NEAVE: And this amendment has language where it could potentially require a school district to look at the citizenship. It's asking to look at the birth certificate of a minor child. Is that correct?

ANCHIA: Yes, I think, for the purpose of getting their birth certificate name on the student ID.

NEAVE: And is that typically within the purview of a school district to look at the birth certificate of a minor child?

ANCHIA: No, it is not.

NEAVE: So this amendment, do you think, would it run contrary to the established Supreme Court precedent in Plyler v. Doe?

ANCHIA: Yes, it certainly is. And look, the underlying bill, ladies and gentlemen, was supported by Dallas ISD, Texans Care for Children, Texas Legislative Education Equity Coalition, United Ways of Texas, all organizations that thought it would be a good idea, just like in the Krause bill earlier today, for us to get ID to young people so it helps them get ahead in life. I'm not sure why Subsection (c) is on here because this bill doesn't amend the Election Code. But look, the reality is school databases are already designed to protect the privacy of young people. This information on the certificate, I think, could put young people at risk, and it is far beyond the initial scope of this bill. And I just want to point out that the reason we want to get young people IDs is that it serves really functional purposes on campus, for example, to pay for meals, to access materials, use library services, purchase other items at school.

But even outside of school, ID is fundamental. It allows students to have access to public libraries. It allows them to apply for welfare benefits. It allows them to apply for jobs, to access buildings, to engage in blood donation, to pick up prescriptions, to adopt pets, to open a bank account if they're 18 and older, as well as other services too broad to enumerate. One of the other reasons we wanted to do this is that oftentimes, especially for students that don't have a state ID or don't have a driver's license—a lot of students in our communities don't have the money to buy a car. They're not going to be driving a car. They can't pay for insurance. We wanted them to have ID just so if they have interactions with law enforcement, they could prove who they are: "Hey, I'm Rafael Anchia, I'm a junior at Miami Coral Park High School, and this is my ID." It allows them to identify themselves when they absolutely need to.

REPRESENTATIVE ZWIENER: So your original legislation, correct, required that the date of birth be on the ID. Is that accurate?

ANCHIA: It did.

ZWIENER: And what is the value of having the date of birth on that identification?

ANCHIA: Well, it helps when you need to prove your age, like when you need to board a plane as an unaccompanied minor, for example. When you need to pick up a prescription, it's helpful to prove to some people how old you are. My daughters, for example, don't have a driver's license. They're not driving yet. They're both high school students, and they don't have a state ID. So they rely on their school IDs to do a lot of things.

ZWIENER: So the date of birth is a fundamental part of the value of this identification, correct?

ANCHIA: It was. But it was removed under the Schofield amendment so that we could protect privacy, which was a concern that Representative Schofield brought to me, which was an amendment that was acceptable to the author. This amendment, however, is not acceptable, as it goes far beyond the purpose of the bill. So I'll be opposing this, and I'd ask the body to not make this identification card about trans kids but really to make it about those kids like the ones in Dallas ISD who are currently experiencing homelessness or students who are unable to get a driver's license because they don't have access to the resources to do so.

And just to put it in stark contrast, because we have a pretty significant homeless population in Dallas ISD that depends on their student ID as their sole form of ID, according to the Texas Education Agency, there are about 114,000 students experiencing homelessness in Texas public schools as of 2019. So that's why students came and testified in favor of the bill, because they know that their colleagues who are homeless and need to overcome the barriers of homelessness really would have been benefitted by a more expansive ID, especially those who don't receive ID at their open enrollment public charter school or in the very few traditional public schools that still don't do ID, although most absolutely do. And when we looked at this in state law, it just wasn't available. So members, please join me in rejecting the Slaton amendment.

SLATON: The reason behind adding this is pretty simple. If a student or a minor goes missing, there's information that people need to find that person, basic information—their name, their gender, date of birth to give you an idea on their age, what clothes they were wearing. This ID is just adding some simple information so they are identified. And I would encourage you to support this amendment.

REPRESENTATIVE TINDERHOLT: I'm going through this real quick. I want to make sure of your intent. So your intent on the photograph is if someone goes missing or really, for identification purposes, you see the physical picture of the individual.

SLATON: Yes, that's the author. He has the photograph to help identify, yes.

TINDERHOLT: And I see sex in here, and it looks like you've defined sex as "the physical condition of being male or female." That seems pretty simple. Name is pretty simple. And then that this is not a valid ID for purposes of voting. Why would you have that in there?

SLATON: Well, you just want to make sure no one gets confused and would use that for voting. That's all, just clarification.

TINDERHOLT: Well, this makes pretty easy sense, and I think this is a pretty easy yes vote.

SLATON: It's a very easy yes vote.

(3) clearly mark all information requested under Subdivision (2) as optional; and

(4) use any information provided by an applicant under Subdivision (2) only to determine if the applicant's probability of admission will increase in accordance with Subsection (a-1).

(b-1) An open-enrollment charter school shall make publicly available and post in a prominent and appropriate location on the school's public Internet website, if the school maintains a public Internet website, notice of the school's admission and enrollment policy, including:

Sec. 25.0311. TRANSFER WITHIN DISTRICT BY LOTTERY. If the board of trustees of a school district elects to allow a student enrolled in the district to transfer from the student's assigned campus to another campus in the district by lottery, the board may use a weighted lottery that assigns weights to applicants so that an applicant's probability of receiving the transfer increases if the applicant is:

(1) eligible to participate in the school's special education program under Section 29.003; or

(2) a student of limited English proficiency, as defined by Section 29.052.

SECTION 5. This Act applies beginning with the 2022-2023 school year.

SECTION 6. This Act takes effect September 1, 2021.

CSHB 3880 ON SECOND READING
(by Dutton, Huberty, Guillen, Toth, et al.)

CSHB 3880, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to a student's eligibility for special education services provided by a school district, including services for dyslexia and related disorders.

CSHB 3880 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE DUTTON: Texas is bound by federal education law, including the IDEA, what we call the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. This bill creates what I think is a great process by which we will now turn our attention to children who have special education problems, particularly dyslexia. Let me tell you what this bill does. It removes the term "special services" and replaces it with "special education." It also defines what a "student with a disability" is. It changes the eligibility requirements for a district's special education program. It also provides an improvement plan for districts in their practices. It also replaces the duty of the State Board of Education to approve a program for testing students for dyslexia. And I could go on and tell you what it is, but I have an amendment, and I'd like to lay the amendment out.

Amendment No. 1

Representative Dutton offered the following amendment to CSHB 3880:

Amend CSHB 3880 (house committee report) by adding the following appropriately numbered SECTION to the bill and renumbering subsequent SECTIONS of the bill accordingly:

SECTION _____. This Act may be cited as the Beckley Wilson Act.

REPRESENTATIVE MEYER: This amendment would simply rename the Act as the Beckley Wilson Act. And I think she's up in the gallery, perhaps? All right, Beckley, wave. Thank you for being here.

Amendment No. 1 was adopted.

REPRESENTATIVE M. GONZÁLEZ: Chairman Dutton, this bill had such powerful testimony from the students and their parents and the advocates. And one of the things we learned is that your bill is going to have a transformative effect in changing the stigma of special education. Did you hear that during the testimony?

DUTTON: Absolutely.

M. GONZÁLEZ: And it is important that we say that special ed kids are just as special to our state and our kids with dyslexia are just as special to our state as all of our kids. Is that correct?

DUTTON: I have been saying that throughout this session.

M. GONZÁLEZ: Well, I just want to say thank you to you and to Morgan Meyer. And especially to everybody who's watching, this bill is so important to the house and we're really trying to break that stigma.

DUTTON: I will just say this, members. I have been here a long time, and I was trying to count. I've probably heard witnesses who testified on a bill—I think I've probably heard more than 3,000, 4,000, or 5,000 witnesses. But 12-year-old Beckley Wilson was the best witness I think I've ever heard in all my years. And I'd like for her to stand up again for us to give her a round of applause because she is such a fantastic student.

A record vote was requested by Representative Meyer.

HB 1480 ON SECOND READING
(by Cyrier)

HB 1480, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the protection of animal and crop facilities; creating a criminal offense.

HB 1480 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE K. KING: Representative Cyrier, did I hear you right? Does this bill create an offense?

REPRESENTATIVE CYRIER: It increases an offense, yes.

K. KING: It increases an offense? If this bill was to become law and this offense is created, you said the Department of Agriculture would have purview over that? Did I hear that right? It would go under TDA under that part of the code?

CYRIER: No, I don't believe so.

K. KING: There's not a rulemaking authority out there that oversees that part of the code?

CYRIER: I don't believe so.

K. KING: I think this would end up under TDA is the way I read it. I mean, all bills have a rulemaking authority out there. But you don't believe TDA is going to have anything to say about this? Or it doesn't belong in that part of the code?

CYRIER: No, I guess it would. It would be under the Agriculture Code so probably the Texas Department of Agriculture.

K. KING: Okay, that leads to my next question. Don't you think the commissioner of agriculture, who is an elected official, is perfectly capable of addressing your concern on this bill and adopting a rule that would create this offense?

CYRIER: No, actually, under this case, this would bring in more laws that would actually protect those facilities. Like in our case, what happened was it was a poultry house where it was trespassed. But it also would be for feedlots and things like that.

K. KING: All right. But it seems to me that I remember some comments from you from this microphone where you were very opposed to a bill that sought to undo a rule that created an offense that was adopted by an appointed commission. So my question to you is, some commissions are allowed to adopt rules that create offenses and others aren't?

CYRIER: I'm not sure where you're going with that.

K. KING: So my question is, why does this deliberative body—so we're about to pass a bill that creates an offense as a deliberative body, as a legislature, and that is the proper place to create a law. Is that correct? Especially one that creates an offense?

CYRIER: Yes, we can do that.

K. KING: Okay. Now, another commission adopted rules that also created an offense—an unelected commission. But it was my understanding that you believe that that was okay that they created law that created an offense under rule, but in this case, you need a bill to be heard and deliberated on by this legislature. Is that correct?

CYRIER: Yes, that other commission could create the rules that they created. And they followed what they were allowed to do, yes.

K. KING: And they have the ability to create law and a law that does create an offense. So you believe that they have that in statute. They get to create offenses.

CYRIER: In the particular case that you're talking about, I believe that was correct.

(by Canales)

CSHB 2001, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to procedures and practices governing the appeal of a disciplinary action within the Department of Public Safety.

CSHB 2001 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE CANALES: I'm so happy we made it here today, because this bill is extremely important to me and the men and women of the Texas Tan. I brought this bill because I represented a trooper before the Public Safety Commission. And I could tell you it was the most patently unfair process that I've ever been a part of as a lawyer. And it's amazing to me that when law enforcement arrests somebody, they're afforded rights, due process rights before a court. But those same men and women do not get those rights when they're before the administrative agency. So I worked with DPS and what we've done is we crafted legislation that gives them rights when they are accused of doing something wrong. They should be afforded the same rights that we have. So with that, I'd appreciate your support.

CSHB 2001 was passed to engrossment.

CSHB 1971 ON SECOND READING
(by Canales, Burrows, Leach, Moody, White, et al.)

CSHB 1971, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the purchase and installation of climate control systems at facilities operated by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

CSHB 1971 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE CANALES: This legislation will only go into effect if state funds are specifically allocated. Over the past three years, our state has spent more than $10 million on litigation due to heat-related deaths in our Texas prisons. I want to thank my joint authors, Chairman Burrows, Chairman White, Speaker Moody, and Chairman Leach for joining me. The reality is in Texas we are cooking people in the prisons that we have. This bill would lower the prison guard shortage and turnover rate. We have an average turnover rate of 21.9 percent in guards and a 40 percent turnover rate within the first year. TDCJ has long struggled against dangerous and chronic understaffing, but the number of officers has reached critical lows in recent months, and that is due to the heat in Texas. Aggressive behavior is also something that is occasioned by excessive heat.

CSHB 1971 would lower health care costs as well in these prisons. Extreme heat can cause a plethora of medical issues, but it also aggravates preexisting conditions. Most importantly, it will save the state time and money in dealing with the litigation that's ensued. Current lack of temperature control has already cost our state $7 million in a recent lawsuit concerning the Pack Unit and continual litigation. TDCJ does not know the true cost. So in regard to the cost, I want to point you to the Pack Unit lawsuit where TDCJ said it would cost more than $20 million. That was not true. The fact is in one instance it only cost $4 million. The reality is it appears TDCJ does not have the ability to properly approximate the cost. With around 70 prisons without heating or cooling, you can imagine that the other units cost a little more. This does not add up to close to the cost to TDCJ.

Many of the people that are imprisoned right now are in there for low-level drug offenses. The heat in Texas soars sometimes to over 110 degrees, making the inside temperature greater. The prisoners that we have heard testimony from lie on the floor in pools of water until the heat dries that water in the morning. And I'm so proud that we have got all these people surrounding me because the reality is this is the right thing to do. It's the humane thing to do. It's something we should have addressed a long time ago, and I'm so proud of all the people that are supporting this bill.

CSHB 1971 was passed to engrossment. (Dean recorded voting no.)

SB 162, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to a false statement made to illegally acquire a firearm; creating a criminal offense.

SB 162 was considered in lieu of HB 347.

SB 162 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE GEREN: During the mass violence hearings that Mr. Darby chaired, we got to go around the state to some of the places where we unfortunately had these. We learned that the feds do not prosecute people when they lie on their firearm application. It carries a 10-year federal sentence. The man that committed the crimes in Odessa should have been in the federal penitentiary instead of killing people in Odessa. This bill is not as strong as I'd like it to be, but it says that if you lie when you fill out that form, it's a state jail felony in the State of Texas. The ATF was not even telling DPS the people that they knew were lying on these forms. And when I went to El Paso, I promised those people that this would be the first bill I filed and this is one I'm dedicated to passing. And I hope you will support it.

HB 3477 ON SECOND READING (by Rose and Reynolds)

HB 3477, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the termination of corporate privileges for certain business entities under enforcement action for a violation of environmental laws.

HB 3477 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE ROSE: Members, we all come here with intentions on making our communities better, and that's what this bill is. HB 3477 was filed because one of my constituents had to endure hardship living in her home because of an environmental issue in her community. Many of you have heard of this issue. It's called Shingle Mountain. And that's not even the name of the corporation who caused the environmental disaster. That place is called Blue Star Recycling. But the reason it's called Shingle Mountain is because they built this plant right next to her home and they were supposed to recycle the fiberglass, but the shingles were so high that it became Shingle Mountain. And so my constituent endured hardship because her grandchildren could not come visit with her. She also became ill because of these pollutants that were in her community.

So all this bill does, members, it addresses—I guess one of the reasons I'm so frustrated, members, is we know we're not always going to agree with each other's legislation, but what I don't like is when people go around and try to discredit your work that you're doing for your constituents, instead of having a conversation with you to try to work out the issues. I know that the industry people are calling everyone complaining about this bill, because I'm here for the people. Most of you might be here for the companies, but Toni Rose is here for the people. Now, I would like to acknowledge Cecil Bell who had the common courtesy to come over and talk to me about my bill and explain his concerns to me about my bill. I want to thank you, and I appreciate you. What this bill does is if a company causes some type of adverse environmental issue in a community, before they continue to move around to other areas, they have to make sure they clean up that community. Because what happened with this particular company, they caused a disaster in the community and then moved over to other communities before cleaning up the disaster in my area.
