REASON FOR VOTE

Representative Neave Criado submitted the following reason for vote to be printed in the journal:

Today, the legislature seeks to further ratify the actions taken by the 87th Legislature in adopting Plan H2316 as the statewide plan for the Texas House of Representatives, and has adopted and incorporated the record from the 87th Legislature as part of its actions on HB 1000.

The proposed house plan systematically diminishes the ability of African Americans, Hispanics, Asians, and other minorities to have electoral power in Texas.

As was revealed by the results of the 2020 Census, communities of color accounted for approximately 95 percent of the population growth in the State of Texas. According to the most recent American Community Survey data from 2021, Latinos now comprise a majority of the state's total population. Yet, despite accounting for the largest demographic group, Latino voters actually lose representational power in Plan H2316. As the Texas Legislative Council confirmed during the committee proceedings for HB 1000, Latinos will now comprise a majority of the Citizen Voting Age population in two fewer districts than prior to 2021, and they will comprise a majority of the registered voter population in four fewer districts.

Alongside other legislation from the 87th and 88th Legislatures that negatively impacts ethnic minorities and makes it harder for communities of color to vote, Plan H2316 shows a pattern of minimizing the representation of people of color in this state.

The concerns that were raised during the 87th Legislature regarding Plan H2316 and have been incorporated herein to the record of HB 1000 remain as valid today as they were then, and we, the undersigned members believe that HB 1000 constitutes a violation of the federal Voting Rights Act and intentionally diminishes the equal opportunity of voters of color to participate in the electoral process in Texas.

REASON FOR VOTE

Representative Martinez Fischer submitted the following reason for vote to be printed in the journal:

We commend Representative K. King for his work on HB 100 but we are disappointed that this bill falls far short of what is actually needed for our schools.

The legislature has an unprecedented amount of money to spend—over $200 billion—and HB 100 does not even raise the basic allotment to keep up with inflation. That means, in real dollars, we are reducing funding for counselors, special education, smaller class sizes, and much more.

We are voting for HB 100 because it starts an important conversation on investing in our schools but it's certainly not and should not be the last word.

MAJOR STATE CALENDAR
HOUSE BILLS
SECOND READING

The following bills were laid before the house and read second time:

HB 1540 ON SECOND READING
(by Holland, Clardy, Canales, Goldman, and K. Bell)

HB 1540, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the San Jacinto River Authority, following recommendations of the Sunset Advisory Commission; specifying grounds for the removal of a member of the board of directors.

Amendment No. 1

Representatives Metcalf, Shaheen, Cole, Talarico, Patterson, Bonnen, VanDeaver, Buckley, Hefner, Cain, Toth, Meyer, Vasut, Goldman, Slawson, Schaefer, K. King, Wilson, Hunter, Cook, Burrows, Anchía, Bucy, Frank, Hinojosa, DeAyala, Manuel, C.J. Harris, Hernandez, Smith, Bumgarner, and Harrison offered the following amendment to HB 1540:

Amend HB 1540 as follows:

(1) On page 8, between lines 1 and 2, insert the following appropriately numbered SECTION:

SECTION _____. Not later than the 30th day after the effective date of this Act, the board of directors of the San Jacinto River Authority shall appoint the general manager of the authority. The board of directors may not appoint or reappoint an individual as general manager if the individual was appointed or employed by the authority as general manager during the six months preceding the effective date of this Act.

(2) Renumber any subsequent SECTIONS accordingly.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE METCALF: This is an amendment that will require the board of directors of the San Jacinto River Authority to appoint a general manager no later than 30 days to the effective date of this Act. They may not appoint a general manager who was appointed or employed by SJRA during the six months preceding the effective date of this Act.

Amendment No. 1 - Point of Order

Representative T. King raised a point of order against further consideration of Amendment No. 1 under Rule 11, Section 2, of the House Rules on the grounds that the amendment is not germane.

(C.J. Harris in the chair)

The point of order was withdrawn.

METCALF: I understand we like to keep some of these bills like this on the floor clean. Many of you have probably never even heard of the San Jacinto River Authority before this very moment. Members, let me be very clear. This is not like the PUC, the Water Development Board, TCEQ, or any other huge state government agency that taxpayers across this great state pay into. River authorities do not receive appropriations from the State of Texas. This river authority is largely funded in large part by my constituents, and I ask for your support in this important amendment for my district.

This is an entity that affects my constituents more so than any other agency that we legislate matters on. This amendment address a local matter and I hope you will stick with me on this amendment, as we always support and respect fellow members on local bills. This is a local entity. This is in my very own backyard. Montgomery County San Jacinto River Authority has forced the Groundwater Reduction Program to build a surface water treatment plant on Lake Conroe, where I live. They're forcing entities in Montgomery County to pay fees for this very plan. There are roughly over 80 entities in this GRP plan and only seven receive water from the San Jacinto River Authority. Members, that makes 73 entities in Montgomery County paying fees to this river authority and not one of them receives a single drop of water. Members, put yourselves in my constituents' boots. Put your constituents in my constituents' position. I can assure that you would be offering the same very amendment that I am today. I am passionately advocating for my constituents. My family settled into Montgomery County in 1846. I am a sixth-generation resident of Montgomery County. I put my heart, I put my soul, and everything I have into representing my beloved community. This is exactly what I'm trying to do here today for the betterment of my community that I am so very honored to represent.

Last I checked, this body is meant for each and every one of us to represent our individual districts, and that is what I am here doing here today. Just because five members serve on Sunset doesn't mean the 145 rest of us get silenced on this floor. There is precedent in this body to do this very same thing. We did this last session with the Racing Commission. It was a debacle. We did this on this house floor, the government appointed a new board, and it is doing great things. Members, I respectfully ask that you vote with me on this amendment for my constituents.

A record vote was requested.

Amendment No. 1 was adopted by (Record 642): 112 Yeas, 19 Nays, 3 Present, not voting.

CSHB 17 ON SECOND READING

(by Cook, Moody, Leach, Metcalf, Burrows, et al.)

CSHB 17, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to official misconduct by and removal of prosecuting attorneys.

CSHB 17 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE J.E. JOHNSON: This bill is fairly broad and I just want to ask some definition questions so that we can have it for the record under this bill. The word "policy" has a fairly broad definition and isn't instructively and directly expressed in any manner. Can you please kind of define that a little bit better and what your intent is for that provision?

REPRESENTATIVE COOK: You need a definition of policy?

J.E. JOHNSON: How are you defining that with respect to the application of your bill?

COOK: I think that it's the plain meaning of the word "policy." I think we all know what policy means.

J.E. JOHNSON: Well, not necessarily. So what if a prosecutor joins with another elected official exercising free speech, let's say, supporting or opposing abortion, for example. Does that constitute an instructive or directive that would be categorically applied under your bill?

COOK: I think that in the judicial system, we want our judges to have an open mind and not prejudge a case. In my opinion, prosecutors who are part of the judicial branch should have that same responsibility. For a prosecutor to make that type of statement, yes, that would be prejudging a case prior to reviewing it on a case-by-case basis.

J.E. JOHNSON: Is it your position then under this context that a prosecutor has no independent right of free speech? When they exercise their own opinions about a policy of a political nature?

COOK: That is not a part of this bill.

J.E. JOHNSON: Under that example I gave you, that would be because obviously abortion, for example, is a very contested topic in this country. It's a very political topic; it's a very partisan topic. If a prosecutor were to attend an anti-abortion rally or complain about the laws passed by this body, are you saying that would be grounds for their removal under this bill?

COOK: Yes.

J.E. JOHNSON: I think that's very concerning when we start crossing the lines, sir. So you basically are saying that once you become a prosecutor in the State of Texas, you are thereby giving up your rights for free speech. Constitutionally protected. Just because you're a prosecutor is that the new standard that we're going to hold these elected officials to?

COOK: Like I said, I'll give you an example of judges prejudging prior to hearing the facts of a case. And I would equate this, the intent of this bill to be largely in the same manner.

REPRESENTATIVE DUTTON: I'm trying to understand this, but let me start with this: Who pays, which county pays for it? The county where the elected official is? Or if it's moved to an adjacent county or somewhere else, does that county pay for it or does a county where the elected official resides have to pay for it?

COOK: I'm not sure. What are you referring to?

DUTTON: The prosecution of it. For example, I understand that the person in the county has to be the one to initiate this.

COOK: Someone living in the county.

DUTTON: Yes.

COOK: That's correct.

DUTTON: And they have to initiate it and, of course, they have to be in the county for at least six months. But when they initiate it, they have to go to the administrative judge and that judge then decides where the case is going to be tried? Or is it going to be tried in the same jurisdiction as the prosecuting attorney?

COOK: Chairman Dutton, so under this bill there's a specific provision dealing with this. Once the petition is filed, the petition is referred to the local presiding judge. You're an attorney as well, and you know that when—I would equate this to an example of a motion to recuse. Anytime there's a recusal motion it goes to the local administrative, or presiding, judge and then that judge makes a referral as far as what judge will hear the recusal and the new case. In preparing CSHB 17, we largely followed the same policy.

DUTTON: Now, just so that I'm clear, the trial of this matter is going to be held in the same jurisdiction in which the prosecutor resides that the charges were made against. Right?

COOK: Yes, sir, that is correct. So the presiding judge will appoint the judge, but it would be held in the county where the petition is filed. The same voters that elected the judge would be the potential jurors.

DUTTON: That's what I've worried about. Well, let me ask you another question. It says it has to be a policy of categorically refusing. And I was trying to understand—first of all, the policy, does it have to be a written policy?

COOK: No.

DUTTON: So that means it can be a practice that if long enough, that it becomes a policy?

COOK: Policy is defined, so I would refer you to page 2, line 4. It says, "Policy means an instruction or directive expressed in any matter."

DUTTON: And, again, I guess my question has to do—does that have to be writing or can a practice dictate that?

COOK: Well, I think that's two different questions. I already answered the first question, which is no, it does not have to be in writing.

DUTTON: So I'm just trying to be sure that if the policy doesn't have to be written, a policy can be established by the practice of that attorney—a prosecuting attorney. Correct?

COOK: I would leave that up to a trier of fact in defining what policy is. Policy means an instruction or directive expressed in any matter. That's why we defined it. For legislative intent purposes, we specifically defined the word "policy."

DUTTON: Right. And so I think you answered the question that that policy doesn't have to be written. Correct?

COOK: Correct.

DUTTON: Well, how else would you establish a policy?

COOK: Well, if you're a district attorney and you go out and you start grandstanding and telling the world that you're not going to prosecute a certain class of crimes that are currently existing, then that would be a way where you would be categorically—and you would not be using prosecutorial discretion, because you would not be judging each case on a case-by-case basis. Instead, you would be categorically refusing to do your duty of enforcing the laws of Texas.

DUTTON: And so that, again, would get back to my first question. A practice of not prosecuting certain cases would become a policy of that DA? That could be considered a policy?

COOK: Well, again, I think we're kind of going back and forth to the same issue. But I think that the word "policy" is defined. The statements that you're referring to, whether they're oral or written, would be evidence that would be heard and considered within the trial of the removal.

DUTTON: And I hate to be redundant, but I'm trying to get an understanding so I can explain to my DA. So if the DA doesn't have a written policy about certain cases, does that absolve them of any kind of complaints regarding this?

COOK: If he does not have a written policy?

DUTTON: Yes.

COOK: No, that's what—I've just answered that question.

DUTTON: Okay. And that's what I'm trying to get at, though. So the policy can be established by some unwritten—and if that's unwritten I'm trying to figure out if it's just the practice of that DA not to prosecute certain cases, when does that become a policy? Or can it become a policy?

COOK: I think what you're asking me is how the policy is developed. Is that correct?

DUTTON: If it's not written.

COOK: So the example I just gave a few minutes ago would be if a district attorney or county attorney goes out into public and makes public statements. Those would be evidence of statements that could be formulated into a policy, which is defined by the bill.

DUTTON: Okay. Then that establishes a practice. But if a DA just didn't prosecute the cases, but didn't go out and grandstand or talk about them, could that constitute a policy?

COOK: Well, like I said, the word "policy" is defined in the bill.

DUTTON: Right.

COOK: There are four exceptions. If you want to talk about any of the four exceptions, I'm happy to talk about those. I think that's the way to answer the question.

DUTTON: Okay. I still don't understand it, but maybe I'm just tired and sleepy today. Well, let me ask this way: If the DA talks about not prosecuting certain cases after that case, for example, had been presented to a grand jury, would that constitute a policy? Could that constitute a policy?

COOK: Well, I would think that if a DA goes and talks about something that was in a grand jury he probably would have a different ethical—

DUTTON: No, after the grand jury. They talked about how they didn't like the case at all, or they didn't think there was enough evidence, or they didn't think anything about it. But they're talking about the case in so far as not prosecuting it. Would that become—could that become a policy?

COOK: Not in my opinion.

DUTTON: Okay. So the policy could not be established through grand jury proceedings on a particular matter?

COOK: My understanding of grand jury proceedings are they are not recorded and they are secretive proceedings.

DUTTON: Right. But what I'm saying is that suppose the prosecuting attorney takes certain cases to the grand jury, but has the same outcome. Would that be enough to establish a policy?

COOK: No. Chairman, I think that you and I both know that no case is the same. So if a DA is doing his or her job, and adjudicating each case on a case-by-case basis, then they're not going to have a problem. That's called prosecutorial discretion.

DUTTON: And that's what I'm getting at. If a prosecutor exercises prosecutorial discretion, could that ever form the basis for a policy?

COOK: Well, so I think it depends on what action is taken. So, again, the statements that would be made would be evidence that would be considered in a trial. As far as the exceptions that we've set forth here are exceptions that were brought to us by district attorneys, county attorneys, and they are specific prohibitions within the policy as defined in the bill.

DUTTON: Let me ask about specific instances, then. One of the issues in this state, and perhaps around this nation, has been related to police shootings of Black guys, of unarmed Black people. And for a DA who chooses never to prosecute those cases, could that fall under this?

COOK: Well, I think that's a terrible example, first of all. So your question is if a DA went out and categorically refused to prosecute cases where Black—

DUTTON: —where Black, unarmed defendants have been shot by the police and prosecutors choose not to do anything about it, would that fall under this?

COOK: It could.

DUTTON: Okay, thank you.

REPRESENTATIVE A. JOHNSON: Thank you very much for working with Chairman Moody, and I know you're also working with Representative Bowers. I did want to clarify a couple of pieces of the language in here and how that may compare to some of the things that are in practice.

As you know, when we talk about prosecutorial discretion, that is derived from the Code of Criminal Procedure, Chapter 2, General Duties of Officers, under Article 2.01. For the duties of a district attorney, towards the end it says, "it shall be the primary duty of all prosecuting attorneys, including any special prosecutors, not to convict, but to see that justice is done." Is there anything about your bill that would contradict or supersede those obligations to a DA under 2.01?

COOK: Not in my opinion.

A. JOHNSON: And so, Article 2.01 and that overriding concern for prosecutors to make a decision on a case-by-case basis is still the law of the land in Texas and nothing about CSHB 17 supersedes it?

COOK: That's correct.

A. JOHNSON: Thank you so much. When we talk about the issue of a policy—and I could hear a little bit but the speaker back here is bad—I heard Chairman Dutton talking to you about policy and as it's defined on page 2, lines 4 through 5, it says, "means an instruction or directive expressed in any manner." On that "any manner," hypothetically, if somebody is at an event and constituents, or members, are talking about certain offenses—first-time offenders of juvenile crimes or anything else—if a DA expresses and says, "We have a policy and a plan that we like to give first-time juvenile offenders a deferred prosecution," or, "We're not focused on those. We're really focused on violent criminals or murderers and rapists." Would those discussions, as far as priorities of the office, in any way violate this provision?

COOK: I think you would look to the exceptions. I think that paragraph three—excuse me, on page 1, line 23, I think would probably be the exception, depending on exactly what was said. I think with where you were going with the question, I think that this exception would be set forth in the third exception.

A. JOHNSON: So there is nothing about this bill that would keep a DA's office from having some kind of planned policy, with regard to their community, that allows people who commit crimes under the laws of the State of Texas to accept some form of responsibility or conditions that may not include a conviction, but does have some accountability? That's, again, up to the DA's discretion. Is that right?

COOK: Yes, ma'am.

REPRESENTATIVE CANALES: A prosecuting attorney—a complaint under your bill is filed, who pays to defend that prosecutor? Does the county pay? Does the prosecutor pay out of pocket? The DA? Who pays for that?

COOK: There's nothing in this bill that speaks to that, but I would think that it would be decided at the county level.

CANALES: Okay, and if the county refuses to defend the DA—which is a possibility under your bill, correct?

COOK: Yes, sir.

CANALES: The prosecutor himself would have to legally defend himself. Arguably, they say a person, or a man, or a woman, who defends themselves as their own attorney is a fool for a client. And so, arguably, he would want a legal defense. What happens if the prosecutor prevails against a claim? Should the person who brought the claim falsely or on false pretenses pay for that prosecutor's lawyer's fees?

COOK: There's nothing in the bill to address that, Chairman.

CANALES: I've got an amendment that says the prosecuting attorney who prevails in a proceeding under your bill would be entitled to their reasonable attorneys fees. Would you be amenable to—if somebody brought a claim against a prosecutor and failed and the prosecutor had to pay their own lawyer's fees—that the person who brought the false claim would be responsible for those lawyer's fees?

COOK: I'm happy to look at it.

CANALES: Okay. Now, let me give you another scenario that I think is problematic. This body last session created a crime for criminal trespass, and it was directed at people who were undocumented. I don't have a problem with it. But just recently—and I'm looking at the article now—in Brownsville, it says 2,000 migrants crossed the border. Theoretically, every single one of those people could be charged in state court with the law that we passed last session. What happens to a prosecutor when he doesn't have the financial means because this body created a law, but we haven't given him the tools—meaning the money—to prosecute? So, for instance, if all 2,000 of those immigrants were charged with the law that we passed, and he can't do it because he doesn't have the bandwidth, doesn't have the prosecutors, doesn't have the money—would your bill remove him from office?

COOK: As far as the cost of it, it would be—is it a Class C or a Class B misdemeanor?

CANALES: Well, any crime—

COOK: No, it makes a difference. Obviously, a Class C misdemeanor—

CANALES: Well, I'll tell you why I'm concerned with your bill. We've got other bills that have been filed this session that elevate that offense—enhance the same offense that I'm discussing with you—to a third degree felony. And so what I'm saying is, is that the border where I'm from—I come from a unique geographic area—we've got people that this body has created crimes that it may be financially impossible for a prosecutor to prosecute them. My question is, what if—that's the basis of the question. If there is an instance—and that's one way it could happen—that it is financially impossible for a prosecutor to prosecute a mass wave of crimes, would your bill remove him from office?

COOK: I do not believe that's a policy as defined by the bill.

CANALES: So I've got a bill that says if it is a financial impossibility to prosecute a crime—that it's a defense to your bill—would you be amenable to that floor amendment?

COOK: Happy to look at it, Chairman.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

COMMITTEE MEETING ANNOUNCEMENT

At 1:47 p.m., the following committee meeting was announced:

County Affairs, upon final recess today, Desk 37, for a formal meeting, to consider pending, referred, and committee business.

HB 1243 ON SECOND READING

(by Hefner, Spiller, Murr, Leach, Goldman, et al.)

HB 1243, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the penalty for the offense of illegal voting; increasing a criminal penalty.

(C.J. Harris in the chair)

HB 1243 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE HEFNER: Members, HB 1243 makes an important adjustment to our election laws by returning the criminal penalty for illegal voting to a second degree felony. This offense was classified as a felony for over 40 years prior to 2021. For nearly half a century, the criminal offense of illegal voting was a felony, codified from crimes specific punishment range to felony category in 1975. HB 1243 simply returns this offense to a second degree felony with attempted illegal voting classified as a state jail felony. I hope that we can all agree that elections are some of the most significant events in our country and that they must be secure. We have made tremendous strides toward election integrity in recent years, but we must ensure that Texans are confident the legitimate votes they cast will be counted and are not canceled out by someone who has knowingly, or intentionally, cast an illegal ballot.

REPRESENTATIVE BUCY: Representative, you just said we're going to raise the penalty. Can you tell us what the goal of this bill is, specifically what your goal in doing this is?

HEFNER: Yes, the goal is to ensure that our elections are honest, secure, and fair and to, hopefully, create a deterrent from those who would intentionally cast illegal votes to corrupt our system.

BUCY: Sure, so honest and fair. The criminal penalty for illegal voting was lowered by a Class A misdemeanor in SB 1 last session, during one of the special sessions, which this house passed only 20 months ago. Why should we increase the penalty for an offense less than two years after we lowered it? Just two years ago this body, in a bipartisan nature—twenty months ago this body voted to lower this penalty—something you're undoing—by republicans with bipartisan support. We voted to lower this penalty. Why, 20 months later, should we be raising this penalty again?

HEFNER: Representative Bucy, the bill was a large bill, it was an omnibus bill. There were a lot of amendments that were filed and voted up and voted down. And I just think that this was one of those changes that happened, and I think it needs to be put back to where it was. This is simply putting it back to where it was for the previous almost half-century. And this is something that we do regularly. We pass bills and sometimes we come back and make tweaks. I think our elections are that important that we send a strong message that we keep them secure and fair.

BUCY: I agree that we have to make tweaks from session to session, but let's talk about where the current law is. A Class A misdemeanor is punishable by up to one year in jail and a fine of up to $4,000. Both jail time and a fine—so it could be both of those things right now with the standard that we set as a body 20 months ago. Are you aware of any evidence that the existing criminal penalty is not deterring this like it should over the last 20 months? Have we seen an increase of any kind in the last 20 months in illegal voting?

HEFNER: I'm not advised on those specific numbers. I know that we—it's pretty common to have a lag in data, not to mention the slowdown we had—and almost a stop—in our courts due to the COVID pandemic, and so I do not have those numbers.

BUCY: Although when we lowered this we were coming out of the pandemic levels and the election before was the one that was really affected as opposed to what we've had lately. So seeing no evidence brought forward in committee of an increase, it would seem to me that the current penalty is getting the job done. So it's hard to understand why when we're coming back to tweak—let me ask you this. The attorney general's office already has an election audit unit that is tasked with looking for election-related crimes. Are you aware of that?

HEFNER: Yes.

BUCY: And are you aware that during the period from January 2020 through September 2022, records obtained by ProPublica show that the office opened at least 390 cases looking into potential election crimes. So they looked at 390 cases—accusations—okay? But in that time they only found five election-related convictions. Five out of that entire two-year span. Is it not reasonable to look at that number and say that the status quo is already working as a deterrent and increasing penalties—which our body already voted against doing just 20 months ago—would be unnecessary?

HEFNER: Well, I'm not up on all the numbers. I don't have all of those in front of me, but I would say we need to make sure that we're sending a strong message. That's what this bill simply does, it just simply strengthens that back up.

REPRESENTATIVE COLE: When we have these conversations, the people who are often put on the news for illegal voting are Black and brown individuals. That's often where the fear comes in. Whenever there's a case of fraud or vote harvesting, it's always directed at Black or brown persons and communities. At least 72 percent of the attorney general's Election Integrity Unit's prosecutions, between 2015 and 2021, appear to have been targeted toward Black and Latinx individuals. At least 45 percent of all Election Integrity Unit prosecutions appear to have been brought against Black women and Latinx women. How do you explain this disparate impact?

HEFNER: This bill doesn't speak to that. This bill doesn't see color, it doesn't see race, it doesn't see gender. We just want to make sure that our elections are fair and secure and that we can rely on them to be accurate and that's simply what it does.

COLE: At least 64.5 percent of the Election Integrity Unit prosecutions appear to have been against Latinx individuals. Latinx individuals make up 32.1 percent of the Texas population. How do you plan to ensure that HB 1243 does not come down with harder penalties against Latinx Texans?

HEFNER: I think, Ms. Cole, if you read the bill, it's just a straightforward bill. There's no reference to any race, color, creed, religion, gender or anything like that. We want to be even across all parts of life and ensure that our elections are secure for all Americans, no matter what color or race they might be.

REPRESENTATIVE SPILLER: For the folks that think that voter fraud—election fraud—is not occurring, are you aware of the fact that, as of June of 2021, there were 534 cases at the attorney general's office successfully prosecuted?

HEFNER: Yes, sir. I've seen those numbers.

SPILLER: And at that time, June of 2021, that there were 510 pending cases?

HEFNER: I've seen some writings on that, yes.

SPILLER: Also at that time, there were 386 active investigations being conducted by the attorney general's office related to illegal voting?

HEFNER: Yes, I've seen reports to that effect. And we need to ask ourselves—we talk about widespread or whatever—how much is okay? I would say zero. And I think that should always be our goal, zero fraud.

Amendment No. 1

Representative Bucy offered the following amendment to HB 1243:

Amend HB 1243 (house committee report) on page 1, line 4, by striking the enacting clause.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE BUCY: What this amendment does, is it guts the bill. It strikes the enacting clause.

Debates about the rights to vote have dominated conversations in this body for my entire time in the Texas Legislature. Before I was elected to the house, I served as a county party chair. In this role, I put on the 2016 presidential primary election and runoff for one of Texas' largest counties, working closely with our election officials and poll workers throughout the electoral cycle and in every cycle since. Between that work, the three terms I've served on the Elections Committee, and my service on the Constitutional Rights and Remedies Committee, I've been given a unique perspective and a front-row seat to election policy in the State of Texas.

We talk a lot about the lack of faith in the electoral process, distrust in the outcome of elections, and people being fed up with their government. But what we don't talk about is the reason for that. It isn't because of illegal voting or so-called voter fraud. And it isn't because the results of our elections are in question because, guess what, they aren't. It's because even though the Texas secretary of state has repeatedly assured us our elections in this state are smooth, secure, and a success—something that we can be proud of—we come down here, session after session, and pass laws that make it harder to participate and harder to have a say in our collective future. By legislating in this way, we're pandering to partisan extremism. If winning at all costs matters more than deliberation and thoughtful policymaking, it's the hallmark of the broken D.C. swamp. We here in Texas are better than that and our constituents deserve better than that. Our words and actions, as leaders of our community and leaders in this state, can take us down one of two paths. We can work together to build up faith and confidence in our elections or we can decimate it. Unfortunately, many of the things we have done in this building have sent us down the wrong path. We have allowed this false narrative to fester and take root. At what point do we say "no more" and that "enough is enough"? Sometimes leading means telling our friends they're wrong and standing up for the truth, especially when it's tough. Leading is doing right and risking the consequences.

A little under two years ago, after three marathon hearings lasting over 60 hours in total, after long days and nights spent debating the merits, and the floor debate that considered over 85 amendments collectively on the floor of this house, this body passed SB 1. And in that bill, via Amendment No. 50, Record Vote No. 49, this body voted on a bipartisan basis—almost every single one of you—to lower the offense for the penalty of illegal voting from a second degree felony, the same penalty for attempted murder, to a Class A misdemeanor. But what has changed in those 20 months? We have had numerous elections in Texas, constitutional amendments, primaries, general elections for cities and school boards, special elections, and most recently, the gubernatorial election in which every member present on this floor was duly elected by their constituents.

Members, we were all just elected. There's nothing in question there. Where are the criminal charges and court dockets full of persons accused of voter fraud or illegal voting? Where are the convictions? Where are the sworn affidavits, which unlike rumor mill and social media, are subject to perjury? They don't exist. There is simply no tangible metric behind this proposal. As such, there is no need to reverse course on the decisions this body agreed upon. The truth is, the last time we provided a comprehensive snapshot in the legislature by the attorney general, he told us—we were told by that office that they obtained 16 convictions for voter fraud and that was over a five-year period. Members, here are the stats: sixteen out of 40 million votes cast in that same time, 16 versus 40.

So whether it's voter suppression, spreading misinformation, or causing intimidation and chilling effects on voters across Texas, we must do better. We in the Texas House are the backstop of democracy. The 150 people in this room will decide whether we have the courage to act despite our fears or succumb to them. What path do we want to go down, members? We cannot let partisan primary politics come before doing what is right. We must exercise every caution against undermining the freedom to vote and stacking the deck against everyday Texans who, regardless of what they look like, where they live, or how much money they make, just want to exercise their right to self-governance freely, safely, and equally.

Members, at the end of the day, voting is the foundation of our democracy. It is a sacred right, one that upholds all others. Everything that we cherish and hold dear is enabled by our access to the ballot box and our ability to make our voices heard from city hall to the halls of congress, from the state house and to the White House. So I'm asking you to vote for my amendment. Let's kill this bill right here and now and let's not pass any other legislation that makes it harder or more intimidating to vote.

REPRESENTATIVE HEFNER: Members, this amendment simply guts the bill and defeats the whole purpose, so y'all stick with me in opposing this amendment, please.

BUCY: Members, enough is enough. There is no evidence to justify changing this penalty. You all voted. If you were here last session, you're a republican, you voted to lower this penalty. And today, with no evidence and no justification, other than there's conspiracy theories out there, you're being asked to vote to increase it. Don't give in to those conspiracy theories. Let's work together to do right by the people of Texas. Vote for my amendment.

Amendment No. 2

Representative Manuel offered the following amendment to HB 1243:

Amend HB 1243 (house committee report) as follows:

(1) On page 1, lines 7 and 8, strike "felony of the second degree unless the person is convicted of an attempt" and substitute "Class A misdemeanor unless the person has previously been convicted of the same offense under this section".

(2) On page 1, line 9, strike "[Class A misdemeanor]".

AMENDMENT NO. 2 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE MANUEL: This amendment changes the penalty for illegal voting. This bill currently has the penalty for the offense of illegal voting as a second degree felony and the penalty for an attempt of illegal voting as a state jail felony. My amendment would reduce the penalty for illegal voting to a Class A misdemeanor, unless it is shown during the trial that the defendant had previously been convicted, in which case it would be a state jail felony.

REPRESENTATIVE TURNER: I want to make sure the body understands clearly what your amendment does. Your amendment would lower the penalty in the bill, but also provide an escalation if someone is a repeat offender under this provision, is that right?

MANUEL: Yes, exactly. I think that it's important to make sure that we're not putting too harsh crimes on people, but also protecting the voting laws and making sure that we're protecting elections.

TURNER: Absolutely. Are you concerned now, without your amendment, the penalties in this bill could create a chilling effect that could intimidate voters and keep them away from the polls?

MANUEL: Absolutely. I think that if we are having laws that are too harsh—and we already have disenfranchised communities that feel threatened—this will just further deter people. I think this is a way to continue keeping our elections with integrity, but also letting people know that it is safe to vote and that if there are mistakes that happen they're not going to be harshly punished for mistakes that could have happened, unless you have a bad actor that is continuously trying to continue to do something like this.

TURNER: Right. Tell us why you want to lower this penalty. Why is a second degree felony, in your view, too harsh of a penalty for somebody found guilty of illegal voting?

MANUEL: With a second degree felony, you could face up to 20 years imprisonment. That is equivalent to aggravated assault, theft up to $200,000 or more, intoxicated manslaughter and other charges, such as indecency with a child. I think we're taking an unnecessary leap too far by making this immediately this severe of a punishment.

TURNER: Do you agree that without your amendment, this bill could just lead to more confusion for voters across the State of Texas?

MANUEL: Absolutely. I think that this is a solution for something that is not happening. I think that this is completely putting Texans in harm's way.

TURNER: You have a good amendment. Thank you, sir.

REPRESENTATIVE MARTINEZ FISCHER: Are you a member of the Elections Committee?

MANUEL: Yes, I am.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: So I'm looking at the HRO and I'm just trying to understand. I know Representative Hefner said, correctly, that we come here every two years and we sometimes tweak things. What really strikes me is we just changed this law in a special session and really probably hadn't even had a lot of evidence or data to support why we'd want to change it again. What's the compelling testimony in committee that is justifying this proposal?

MANUEL: Personally, a lot of the compelling testimony were people who were saying that they had heard—what I would call hearsay—of crimes that were happening that no one has been able to bring proof of in any judicial court. That has been something that's alarming to me.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: Was there any major arrest or did something occur in the last election that all of a sudden there was an overwhelming outcry from a community that misdemeanors aren't severe enough? That we need to go back to the old law? I'm just trying to understand it.

MANUEL: No, there were not any. Again, it was a lot of hearsay. It was what could happen, what someone said they heard happen, which again, of course, you being an attorney would know that's not even something that you could even prosecute someone in a court of law with.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: I don't see, in the HRO analysis, any prosecutorial authorities that testified even on the bill. There clearly had to be some evidence of something if we're talking about taking a classification of a crime from one year in the county jail and a $4,000 fine to up to 20 years in a state prison. For a lot of people, to get that kind of time in the criminal justice system there's an awful lot of evidence. What's the evidence here?

MANUEL: Again, the evidence was—I think it's about 350 to almost 400 cases of people who were indicted. But the total was about five people that were convicted of these crimes that apparently are so prevalent that some people are saying that they're changing elections. Even the attorney general's office doesn't have any proof that they've changed any elections, and there wasn't any evidence that was brought forward with that as well.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: I guess when I think about some of these election crimes that sometimes involve falsifying signatures on documents, or using some sort of fraud or deception, I see those penalties currently could be felonies under current law. Why isn't that sufficient if there's something really going on here? That there's a conspiracy or some overwhelming—I mean, are prosecutors limited to just charging under this current misdemeanor or do the other laws in our Criminal Code apply to elections as well?

MANUEL: That is one of the questions that I asked. Is this some kind of conspiracy? Because again, from the people who testified who said there was a problem, they said that they have turned this over to their local prosecutor's office, to the attorney general's office, to the FBI since 2018. And yet, there have still not been—out of state, local, and federal agencies—there is not any evidence or any cases that have been brought forward to show why we need to increase this penalty at such a severity to Texans.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: Did any members on that committee—as Representative Bucy pointed out and also as Representative Hefner has acknowledged, this passed in a special session—did anybody on the committee say, "I made a mistake when I voted for this in the special session" or "I was wrong when I voted for it in the special session"? What I'm very familiar with is the law of unintended consequences. We do something here, and we don't realize when we do that we cause this reaction somewhere else and we come back and fix an unintended consequence. But when we change a felony to a misdemeanor, we are intending to lower the penalty. I just want somebody to own it. If someone said, "Well, I made a mistake and I tricked the house into voting for this," well, I'd like to hear that. Did you hear that in your committee?

MANUEL: No, we did not hear that at all.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: And did the author of the amendment in the special session, did he or she—I don't even know who it is—did he or she say, "I did this in error. I've learned from my mistakes. I'm wrong"?

MANUEL: No. There was not any additional members, or anyone before, who said that there was an issue that we needed to raise this because something had happened so egregious that we needed to enhance this penalty.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: I'm just looking at the witnesses and the witness list for this bill is pretty short for a bill of this consequence. But I don't see law enforcement, or attorneys, or folks that are going to be charged with the responsibility to carry out this law if it's passed. Am I missing anything? Did prosecutors come to you and say, "We need this"?

MANUEL: Again, we did not have any of those people come to testify. It was people who said that they felt, or that they had heard of something, and they felt that this needed to be done. This was the stance behind why they were for the bill, but it was not anyone in any form of authority—police, prosecutors, or former prosecutors who came and spoke for this bill.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: And I guess the state executive who has some of the responsibility for some of these issues—I don't see the attorney general's office on here. Not even as a resource witness. Did they come talk to you?

MANUEL: They were not present at the committee.

REPRESENTATIVE HEFNER: This completely reverses the intent of the bill, so I ask you to vote no.

REPRESENTATIVE J.D. JOHNSON: Representative Hefner, in respect to the amendment, it just simply—can you tell me what the amendment says?

HEFNER: Current law is a Class A misdemeanor. We are taking it to a second degree felony and this amendment is just taking it right back to a Class A, what it is currently.

J.D. JOHNSON: What is the legal age to be registered to vote in Texas?

HEFNER: Eighteen.

J.D. JOHNSON: And so, potentially, do you believe that an 18-year-old could make a mistake because they got registered at school, they got registered here, they went to college, they didn't really know where to vote? Then this 18-year-old makes a mistake, that one mistake and you're telling me—I'm asking, are you saying that 18-year-old deserves to then have a felony charge placed on them for exercising their constitutional right to vote, but simply made a mistake? Do you think that's fair to that 18-year-old, that they now have a felony on their books for the rest of their lives, simply because a mistake was made?

HEFNER: Under this bill, Representative Johnson, in that circumstance they would not be prosecuted. It has to be committed knowingly or intentionally.

J.D. JOHNSON: How do we make that determination?

HEFNER: I guess we would gather evidence and facts in each individual case. I'm not a prosecutor, but there's lots of processes in place.

J.D. JOHNSON: There's lots of processes in place, but if a person says, "I made a mistake," without having any evidence to show that they have records—there's policies, maybe a Facebook page, maybe there's some diary that they have—how do you make the determination that somebody willfully intended to break the law and cast an erroneous ballot?

HEFNER: This doesn't change any current case law, this simply changes the penalty. So whatever is in place now stays, this simply just raises the penalty.

J.D. JOHNSON: Again, that's my question. If we are saying that nothing changes, but you're saying that it's okay that this 18-year-old, 19-year-old, 20-year-old student simply makes a mistake. You're saying, "Oh, we don't care, we're just going to put this felony on you."

HEFNER: I did not say that.

J.D. JOHNSON: That's what the bill—because the amendment that Representative Manuel just offered was simply saying that without any evidence the first time would be a Class A. Now, if it happens again of course, you go back to a felony. But again, this first time has to be demonstrated that somebody literally made a mistake. If you're saying every law that is broken needs to be punished, I agree with you. But again, if this 18-year-old made a mistake—because there have been multiple cases where people have been told that they could vote, only to find out later that they could not vote. That was bad information that they were given. If Representative Manuel's amendment simply says the first time out they make a mistake, it's a misdemeanor. If they do it again, the felony certainly can stand. That's my understanding of the amendment.

HEFNER: My answer is the same one as before. We are not changing any current case law, we are simply increasing the penalty.

J.D. JOHNSON: So an 18-year-old makes a mistake, you don't care. You're going to put them in the same category as a rapist and a murderer.

HEFNER: Under current case law, it would have to be intentional and knowingly.

J.D. JOHNSON: It has to be proven to be intentional.

HEFNER: Yes, that's my understanding.

J.D. JOHNSON: And you don't understand what that intention is? I continue to ask, how do we make the distinction between what is intentional and what is a mistake? Because Representative Manuel's amendment simply says if someone intentionally did it, we are going to make sure we are monitoring you. That's why I think there is always a progression of violations. If a person violates the law the first time out, because they did not have a proper conviction—in this body we always look at peoples' prior convictions, we always say, "What did they do before?" Any prosecutor is going to look, "Did you do this before?" And if you did it before, then we are going to elevate your punishment. In this case, again, it's a vote that someone erroneously made, but you are taking them all the way up to prosecuting them as if they just murdered someone or raped someone when, again, it was a mistake. So I understand when you continue to say, "We haven't changed the law," but again if a person makes a mistake the first time—if we know they are willfully intending to break the law, then we are going to punish them. And if they do it again, then we are going to bring the full force of the court down on them so that they will be punished to the full extent. But I'm asking again for the first time out—offering Representative Manuel's amendment just simply says for the first time out we don't want to punish someone so severely for making a mistake. That's all the amendment says.

HEFNER: Well, again, it says it has to be knowingly or intentionally, not just making a mistake. I think our elections are important enough that we send a strong message and have strong penalties for illegal voting.

J.D. JOHNSON: One of the things that I've said over and over again as we pass laws in this body—because, again, I think Representative Manuel's amendment is a very good one because I think it's fair and looks at laws across the board—but I will always say that laws apply to everyone. I think they're only applicable to some. When you say that, "I'm not changing the law, I just simply want to bring the full force of the law down on a person who makes a mistake without having really any due process," it's really who we're going to point this at. Who are we going to create the law for?

HEFNER: Who said anything about doing away with due process? We are going to state again, it's not just for making a simple clerical mistake, it has to be knowingly or intentionally. Our whole system of due process remains in place. We are not undoing any due process.

J.D. JOHNSON: I'm asking you as the author of the bill, what is "knowingly" and "intentional"?

HEFNER: I'm not a prosecutor, that is all in the law, it has to be proven. A case has to be built with the individual facts of each case. It is going to be different in each case, I imagine.

J.D. JOHNSON: Can you give me an example of what is intentional?

HEFNER: Look, that's not up to me. That is up to the prosecutors and the people bringing the case. All we are doing here—

J.D. JOHNSON: I respectfully disagree. If you are going to pass a law that is going to bring the full force of the criminal justice system down on their head for a simple vote and you don't understand what you are saying—because what you are saying, "if it's intentional"—I'm simply asking for an example of what intentionality is.

HEFNER: The intention is to ensure that our elections are honest and secure. Representative Johnson, if you will look back at the record vote on this amendment in 2021, you will find that you, along with several other members, voted not to lower the penalty to a Class A.

J.D. JOHNSON: Fantastic. Now I'm coming back and saying, "I made a mistake, so we are going to change it." To go back in the past and tell me what I did in the past is the exact point that I am making right now. That things can be changed. What I did then was a mistake, so should I be kicked out of the house because I made that mistake? That's what you're saying. The mistake was made. So giving people an opportunity to fix a mistake is what I am certainly asking you to do.

HEFNER: What you are trying to say is that we are going to lock someone up for making a mistake and that is not true.

J.D. JOHNSON: It's what the amendment is asking you to do. Allow someone to correct, as opposed to simply prosecuting them to the full extent of the law just simply because there was a mistake made. So thank you for the "a-ha" moment, the "gotcha" moment, but that is not what my intent is. My intent is simply to ask you a simple question—I wish you would talk to me. Talk to me, here. I'm not asking Representative Murr, I'm talking to you.

HEFNER: Knowingly and intentionally is defined in the Election Code. We are not going to prosecute people for making a mistake.

J.D. JOHNSON: I think that's very disrespectful, I can't have a conversation with you. You're not understanding anything I'm saying. It's a simple amendment. We don't prosecute people for making a mistake.

HEFNER: And I'm opposed to the amendment, Representative Johnson. I'll say it over and over: I'm opposed to it. We can talk about this all day, fine with me.

J.D. JOHNSON: But you can't tell me what your bill does—you don't even know what your bill does or what intentionality is.

HEFNER: It increases the penalty for illegal voting.

J.D. JOHNSON: Intentionality of breaking the law is my question.

HEFNER: That is defined in the Penal Code.

MANUEL: I have a great respect for Representative Hefner. I appreciate him talking with me and answering my questions that I've had in committee and outside of committee. All this amendment is asking you is to please make sure that we are not putting people in harm's way. People do make mistakes. Sometimes, it has been proven, that we cannot prove when someone has intentionally done something. This amendment is not trying to make people who choose to do illegal voting and give them a pass. I am not a person who is for that. I am just simply asking, with this amendment, to let us think about the fact that this body has done wonderful things for criminal justice reform. And this amendment is a form of criminal justice reform. We are making sure we are not prosecuting people who should not be prosecuted and putting them in a state jail for 20 years. I respectfully ask you, please, vote for this amendment and thank you so much for your time.

HB 1243 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE MARTINEZ FISCHER: I appreciate the debate—appreciate Representative Hefner bringing this proposal forward. But I just sometimes wonder if we're keeping a log or an account for the things that we're doing. Just about an hour ago, Chairman Goldman got up here and in a semi-emotional way talked about fentanyl and what fentanyl has done to our state and our country. We see it in the news every day, we see it in our community, we know somebody that may have lost a life. And so we just passed a law to engrossment that said if you are involved in the fentanyl racket, it is a felony of the second degree—send you to prison for 20 years. And there's a mountain of evidence to support why we want to do that. There's a debate as to whether or not we should approach these issues with just tough-on-crime only. But setting that aside, we said that this is such a problem backed by so much evidence and so much law enforcement, et cetera, it's a second degree felony, and it makes sense.

And then we have a debate about voting. Twenty-five million ballots cast, a small percentage—a fraction—that's being investigated, and even a smaller number actually making it to a conviction. There's no law enforcement outcry. Not a single sentence about how this fraud impacted an election and how some law enforcement agency is overwhelmed with all of the illegal voting taking place in this state. And, frankly, as a member of the party who loses a lot of elections, I mean, I don't know what the complaint's about. I mean, election results sort of speak for themselves. No evidence whatsoever, and we're about to say voting and fentanyl is the same serious problem we have in this state. So we're going to send everybody who traffics in fentanyl and everybody who potentially votes illegally, we're going to give you the same punishment. If I were a judge presiding over these cases, I'd be worried about having to hear cases sending people to prison for drugs and then sending people to prison for an allegation of voter fraud.

I think we need to be careful what we do—what kind of message we send. And I think, even more so, it's not as if we are debating this issue for the first time. We had a very passionate debate about voting 20 months ago. Some would say that it took our chamber to a new low. And we've done a good job of moving forward, working forward, and moving on things that matter to this state. Now we're being drug back into dealing with an issue when we just decided to lower this to a misdemeanor. There's been no passage of time, no evidence to support that there is a crime wave out there that we need to address this by raising the standard. I'm sorry to say, but I think we're doing this to satisfy folks' political appetites and we're not doing this for public policy. We're not doing it for the interest of our voters and we're not doing it for the interest of our state. I think we're checking some kind of partisan box and I think that's when we do our worst work.

And so I hope you see this for what it is. This is not an indictment on the member who brought this legislation forward. I take him at his word. He's doing what he thinks he needs to do to represent his district. But I can tell you the evidence that I see in the district I represent, the evidence I see in many of your districts, there is nothing there. So I certainly hope that we would take up the chamber's time dealing with the issues that really matter, the issues that really need to be addressed, and we're not just checking political boxes. And with that, I hope you vote no on this.

REPRESENTATIVE ALLISON: I was the author of Amendment No. 50 that has caused this confusion. So I thought that I could maybe help by trying to re-center and refocus things on exactly what happened and the intention on the amendment and the resulting bill.

If those of you who were here last session recall, I described it as a cleanup amendment, which I believe it was and I still do for several reasons. One, the bill kind of originated—I filed a bill in the Elections Committee earlier in the session calling for second degree felony punishments for voter fraud. That bill was subject to a committee substitute, not by me, that reduced the penalties down to a Class A misdemeanor. My understanding was that was on the request, or recommendation of the attorney general's office. That made sense to me. I spent my early first five years in the district attorney's office. I understand the need to bargain and get witnesses that might not otherwise cooperate by giving them a lower penalty, so it made sense to some extent. That was one reason for the cleanup in the amendment: to comply with what that committee had done. The committee passed it out to Calendars and didn't proceed from there.

There were also complaints, during the different discussions, about the vagueness in the existing code provisions. So the amendment included some additional specificity. There were also complaints about factual necessities. An example, if you helped your aged, disabled grandfather or grandmother, you could be subject to a second degree felony. The intent was to address things like that.

What the focus became is accusations that this amendment, that dealt with just one section, that did change the penalties down to a Class A misdemeanor to address those concerns I just mentioned, particularly the attorney general's request. And also complaints that this undid 40 or 50 years of statutory law. I don't think either of those are true and let me expand upon that a little bit, and there was a complaint that the matter wasn't debated. Well, Representative Cain filed an amendment to my amendment providing that it moved to a felony if there was money involved. So any of the things that I proposed to reduce to a Class A misdemeanor—if there was money involved, or an attempt to elicit money—it moved up to a felony stage. As a part of that, Representative Bucy and Representative Cain had a pretty heated exchange on the floor to the point where it came down to a record vote and the record vote approved the amendment to the amendment. As the bill proceeded—went back to the senate, went back to conference—that amendment to the amendment came out. So any discussion that snuck by—there wasn't full disclosure, wasn't full debate—can't be supported because there certainly was.

One vitally important provision in the amendment that I think has been totally missed, and I hope is helpful, is that the last paragraph in the amendment provided that action could be brought under this particular code provision, or any other code provision or law. The intention being that we wouldn't be locked into one section and could address what the attorney general had requested. We could address the problems with vagueness, we could address the problems with factual differences, and maybe minor things shouldn't be a second degree felony by going with other provisions. And were that so important, and were the argument that this undid 40 or 50 years of law just isn't the case. If you go through just the Election Code, there are other provisions. If you've been subjected to Steve Munisteri's lecture series, he identifies 12 other provisions that carry a felony and that's what is so important about that catchall at the end.

Earlier in the session, Representative Bonnen and Representative Goldman, I think, sponsored HB 574. I coauthored it. It provides for second degree felony provisions for more of the voting administration. If you count votes that shouldn't have been counted, don't count votes that should've been counted, it's a second degree felony. That type of thing is picked up by that catchall. What it does is go with the facts. It doesn't lock in so that everything is a second degree felony. If there's a factual determination, a factual issue, or maybe there's entitlement to a lesser offense, this enables it. But at that same time, that same provision can be used as a felony. Because what we tried to do with that amendment is intentionally provide that everything that was in that section that we lowered to a Class A misdemeanor, can be picked up elsewhere in that code as a felony if the facts support that.

I think it comes down to—we should be here to provide and enact good policy. And too often we get into a conflict or a contrast between policy and politics. And I just tried to re-center this back to—not just focus on this one section, but the totality of the amendment, the totality of what remains in the Election Code that as I've described before, I think satisfies and provides the best of both worlds. With that, I hope that's been helpful. I understand as well as anyone, maybe more so, the importance of voter integrity and our election integrity. It goes to the heart of our democracy. So if you think the better policy is that these things should be a second degree felony, I encourage you to vote for the bill. On the other hand, if you think the better policy is to provide the provisions I think we intended in the amendment, vote that way.

REPRESENTATIVE SHERMAN: Representative Allison, thank you for your heartfelt sentiments regarding this important piece of legislation.

When Representative Allison spoke about policy versus politics, he was really speaking to what is germane to the concerns of the people that are in the gallery. I know Representative Hefner. He's a good man and I know that he believes in doing what he is doing today. But I pray for our democracy. In our lives, there are times that we have one of those moments for such a time is this. A time that we as legislators are presented with a stark choice of choosing sensibility over disquieting, partisan politics. I implore you to be sensible, to vote against the fretful legislation that would increase the penalty from a Class A misdemeanor to a second degree felony.

HB 1243 would further repress and clamp down the people's voices, while failing to remedy the real issues at hand. Texas ranks among the bottom in voter turnout and voter registration. Citizens should witness our efforts here being centered on encouraging participation in our democracy, not on perverting representative government. Our efforts today, should be focused on the fight for the common good, for the common wealth—to encourage them to vote, and not on a Fox-instigated, stop-the-steal rouse. We should be opening our democracy to create a Texas where people are encouraged to vote. It's important to remember that this has been an unending ploy of making voting an intimidating and difficult process for Texans across the state to engage in our open and democratic elections. Perhaps that's why Texas currently ranks among the bottom in voter turnout and voter registration. This bill would further entrench voter suppression in our state by increasing the penalties for unauthorized voting.

This has led to many tragic cases such as Crystal Mason being convicted of voting illegally during the 2016 election due to her voting while under supervision. How can we justify charging individuals like Ms. Mason with a felony when she was encouraged by a state-employed poll worker to submit a ballot, when she was never notified of her state of eligibility status? Increasing the penalty from a Class A misdemeanor to a second degree felony would suppress the people's voices and fail to remedy the real issues at hand—that is we need everyone that is legal to vote.

A democracy cannot thrive where power subverts the voices of the people. The hardworking people of Texas deserve legislators who are focused on increasing participation. Increasing the penalty will have a pernicious impact on voter engagement. Increasing the penalty will have a predictable effect on voter turnout in some marginalized communities. Increasing the penalty to an offense of two to 20 years will have a chilling effect when we persecute some patriotic Texans whose intent was only to vote their conscience.

In my conclusion, I don't want to be accused of being ambiguous so, again, let me be crystal clear. If we increase the penalty of voting while being unknowledgeable, and this legislation passes, we will place Texans like Crystal Mason in the same category as the following second-degree offenses: arson, robbery, sexual assault, bribery, bigamy, second stalking offenses, evading arrest and another person died as a result of it, improper educator-student relationships, online solicitation of minors under the age of 14, human trafficking, manslaughter, intoxicated manslaughter, possessing 50 pounds or more of marihuana, indecent contact with a child, and now, voting with a zeal, but not according to knowledge.

Freedom to vote—we should strengthen our democracy by strengthening the freedom to vote. In honor of the great Texas president, Lyndon B. Johnson, and Dr. Martin Luther King, I believe we should resurrect the spirit of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 that said to this august body of lawmakers, "I implore you to choose pragmatic policy over partisan control."

REPRESENTATIVE HEFNER: I first want to thank my joint authors that helped me on this bill: Representative Murr, Representative Goldman, Representative Leach, and Representative Spiller. I truly believe that secure elections are not a partisan issue. This is not democrat versus republican. Fair and free elections are the bedrock of our form of government and they must be protected.

GENERAL STATE CALENDAR
HOUSE BILLS
SECOND READING

The following bills were laid before the house and read second time:

CSHB 213 ON SECOND READING(by Moody, Leach, S. Thompson, Buckley, Cook, et al.)

CSHB 213, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to jury instructions regarding parole eligibility and the release on parole of certain inmates convicted of an offense committed when younger than 18 years of age; changing parole eligibility.

CSHB 213 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE MOODY: I'm pleased to bring you a bill that might look a little familiar. CSHB 213 is known as Second Look and is a bill that one important commentator said "is to be commended for aiming to provide opportunities for the young offender population, admirably recognizes the potential for change, and encourages rehabilitation and productiveness in the young offender population and will allow for meaningful reform on this important matter." That quote all comes from Governor Abbott's veto statement. He had a technical issue related to the jury instruction letter, which I guess is what happens sometimes when a judge becomes the governor. I told him I'd fix it and I'd send it back to his desk, and I'm here to do just that. We do have an amendment.

Amendment No. 1

Representative Moody offered the following amendment to CSHB 213:

Amend CSHB 213 (house committee printing) as follows:

(1) On page 1, line 14, strike "a felony case" and substitute "an offense described by Section 508.145(d-2)(1)(A), Government Code".

(2) On page 2, line 6, between "until the" and "actual", insert "earlier of (1) the date the defendant's".

(3) On page 2, line 8, strike "less" and substitute "less, or (2) the date the defendant would otherwise be eligible for release on parole under another provision of Section 508.145, Government Code".

(4) On page 4, strike lines 20 through 27, and substitute the following:

(d-2)(1) This subsection applies only to an inmate who:

(A) is serving a sentence for:

(i) a capital or first degree felony described by Article 42A.054(a), Code of Criminal Procedure;

(ii) a first degree felony under Section 71.02, Penal Code; or

(iii) an offense under Section 71.023, Penal Code; and

(B) was younger than 18 years of age at the time the offense was committed.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section and except as provided by Subdivision (3), an inmate described by Subdivision (1) is not eligible for release on parole until the earlier of:

(A) the date the inmate's actual calendar time served plus good conduct time equals one-fourth of the sentence or 15 years, whichever is less; or

(B) the date the inmate would otherwise be eligible for release on parole under another provision of this section.

(3) An inmate described by Subdivision (1) who is serving a life sentence under Section 12.31(a)(1),

(5) On page 5, strike lines 4 through 7 and substitute the following:

SECTION 5. Section 508.145(b), Government Code, is repealed.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE MOODY: Members, quickly, this is a perfecting amendment that limits the types of crimes that this applies to. But other than that, this amendment brings in line this bill as the exact same bill that passed off of this floor last session.

Amendment No. 1 was adopted.

CSHB 213 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE BUCKLEY: If it hadn't been for an accidental meeting at a veterinary clinic in Killeen, Texas in July of 2020, CSHB 213 would simply be another bill on a long list of house bills on second reading to me.

On that summer day, a man walked into my clinic to ask me a question. It wasn't about what people usually ask me about. He asked me if we could step into my office and he told me the story of his son, a young man that had gotten into trouble as a juvenile. He had gotten involved with some very bad people, and ended up involved in—no other way to describe it but as a horrific crime.

At first, I was a little taken aback. I didn't understand it. For goodness sakes, I'm a veterinarian, not an attorney. I don't know if I believed the story exactly, but what I found as we visited there—what was going to be 15 minutes turned into an hour and 15 minutes—was a dedicated father fighting for his son. Understanding that current law did not really approach justice in a fair way in this instance. So as we began to know each other, one evening I brought this story of this young man and his dad home to my wife, who was a long time high school teacher and is now an administrator over secondary education. We talked about it over the kitchen table. After me telling the story of this young man, Susan looked up at me with big tears in her eyes and she said, "You know, you sacrificed a lot to be in Austin." She's not real political, but she said, "If you can do one thing while you are elected in Austin—do this. Do this."

So what CSHB 213 will simply do, is it will allow for a second chance, a second look. It allows for those that are incarcerated that work hard, that happen to be juveniles when they are tried as adults, to be placed on the same playing field—a level playing field—for parole, as someone that committed the crime as an adult. Can you imagine the young people that we expect to make mistakes—sometimes they're little, well folks, sometimes they're big mistakes. But when you can meet with a young man, like Representative Cook and I did back in December, and you see the hard work at rehabilitation, of studying the word of God, of gaining a skill to be productive in society, you would see a young man that knew he made a mistake. His dad never said he shouldn't have gone to prison. The young man said he should have been in prison, but now he is having to be there for 40 years before the parole board will take up his case to grant him parole.

These young people deserve a second look. A second look is not necessarily a second chance, but it's the opportunity for a second chance. The parole board will still look at things to make sure that these young men and women are who they say they are—that they have changed the way they say they've changed. Then, hopefully, they will be able to go out into society, having learned from the past, and be productive. Be productive.

So I encourage you to support CSHB 213. This is the right thing to do. We passed it last session and the senate passed it. Let's do this because by doing this, we will show we believe in redemption. It will not impact public safety, it will not impact the ability for victims of crime to receive the justice they deserve. I just believe it's the right thing to do. I urge you to join me in voting for CSHB 213.

REPRESENTATIVE CAIN: Mr. Moody, I know he's of a different party than you, but you may recall when President Trump signed—

REPRESENTATIVE MOODY: I recall.

CAIN: The Second Step Act, or the Second Look Act, right? This would be something that his administration supported, wouldn't you say?

MOODY: Yes, the federal government passed a version of this as well. I think we all strive, no matter what party we belong to, when discussing criminal justice we strive to find the proper intersection of justice and mercy. That's what this bill strives to do and I think it strikes that balance.

CAIN: I just know that there's some in my party that oppose this and don't realize that President Trump's administration saw this as something very important to do and they've done it. We're now trying to do this in Texas. Is that correct?

MOODY: Yes, sir. I appreciate the conversation. There was a technical problem with this bill the last time it landed on the governor's desk. We've got it right this time. Texans are ready for this, and these young people deserve it.

Amend HB 3837 (house committee printing) by striking page 1 line 6, through page 3, line 14, and substituting the following:

(1-a) "Advanced clean energy project" means:

(A) a project ~~[for which an application for a permit or for an authorization to use a standard permit under this chapter is received by the commission on or after January 1, 2008, and before January 1, 2020, and]~~ that:

(i) ~~[(A)]~~ involves the use of coal, biomass, petroleum coke, solid waste, natural gas, or fuel cells using hydrogen derived from such fuels, in the generation of electricity, or the creation of liquid fuels outside of the existing fuel production infrastructure while co-generating electricity, whether the project is implemented in connection with the construction of a new facility or in connection with the modification of an existing facility and whether the project involves the entire emissions stream from the facility or only a portion of the emissions stream from the facility;

(ii) ~~[(B)]~~ with regard to the portion of the emissions stream from the facility that is associated with the project, is capable of achieving:

(a) ~~[(i)]~~ on an annual basis:

(1) ~~[(a)]~~ a 99 percent or greater reduction of sulfur dioxide emissions;

(2) ~~(b)~~ if the project is designed for the use of feedstock, substantially all of which is subbituminous coal, an emission rate of 0.04 pounds or less of sulfur dioxide per million British thermal units as determined by a 30-day average; or

(3) ~~(c)~~ if the project is designed for the use of one or more combustion turbines that burn natural gas, a sulfur dioxide emission rate that meets best available control technology requirements as determined by the commission;

(b) ~~(iii)~~ on an annual basis:

(1) ~~(a)~~ a 95 percent or greater reduction of mercury emissions; or

(2) ~~(b)~~ if the project is designed for the use of one or more combustion turbines that burn natural gas, a mercury emission rate that complies with applicable federal requirements;

(c) ~~(iii)~~ an annual average emission rate for nitrogen oxides of:

(1) ~~(a)~~ 0.05 pounds or less per million British thermal units;

(2) ~~(b)~~ if the project uses gasification technology, 0.034 pounds or less per million British thermal units; or

(3) ~~(c)~~ if the project is designed for the use of one or more combustion turbines that burn natural gas, two parts per million by volume; and

(d) ~~(iv)~~ an annual average emission rate for filterable particulate matter of 0.015 pounds or less per million British thermal units; and

(iii) ~~(c)~~ captures not less than 50 percent of the carbon dioxide in the portion of the emissions stream from the facility that is associated with the project and sequesters that captured carbon dioxide by geologic storage or other means; or

(B) a project that is a facility:

(i) for which an authorization to use a standard permit was approved after January 1, 2020, but before September 1, 2023; and

(ii) that includes carbon capture in its design and is capturing not less than 95 percent of the carbon dioxide in the emissions stream already permitted for carbon capture.

HB 1707 ON SECOND READING

(by Klick, Leo-Wilson, Jetton, J.D. Johnson, et al.)

HB 1707, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the applicability of certain laws to open-enrollment charter schools.

HB 1707 - POINT OF ORDER

Representative Bryant raised a point of order against further consideration of HB 1707 under Rule 4, Section 32(c)(2), of the House Rules on the grounds that the bill analysis is substantially or materially misleading. The point of order was withdrawn.

HB 1707 - POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hinojosa raised a point of order against further consideration of HB 1707 under Rule 8, Section 1(a)(1), of the House Rules on the grounds that the bill caption fails to give reasonable notice of the subject of the bill. The point of order was withdrawn.

HB 1707 - POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hinojosa raised a point of order against further consideration of HB 1707 under Rule 8, Section 1(b), of the House Rules on the grounds that the bill caption does not provide proper notice of the imposition of a fee or assessment. The point of order was withdrawn.

Amendment No. 1

Representative Klick offered the following amendment to HB 1707:

Amend HB 1707 (house committee report) on page 2, between lines 5 and 6, by inserting the following appropriately lettered subsection and relettering subsequent subsections accordingly:

() A political subdivision may not consider an open-enrollment charter school a school district under Section 395.022, Local Government Code, for the purposes of the collection of impact fees imposed under Chapter 395, Local Government Code, by the political subdivision for providing capital funding for public water and wastewater facilities.

Amendment No. 1 was adopted.

Amendment No. 2

Representative Canales offered the following amendment to HB 1707:

Amend HB 1707 (house committee report) on page 2, between lines 23 and 24, by adding the following appropriately lettered subsection to read as follows:

() This subsection applies only to information of a financial nature of an open-enrollment charter school subject to this section. A nonprofit entity operating an open-enrollment charter school under Chapter 12 or a management company providing management services to the nonprofit entity is considered a governmental body for purposes of Chapter 552, Government Code, and information managed by the entity or company is subject to disclosure under Chapter 552, Government Code.

Amendment No. 2 was adopted.

Amendment No. 3

Representative Rogers offered the following amendment to HB 1707:

Amend HB 1707 (house committee report) as follows:

(1) On page 2, between lines 21 and 22, insert the following appropriately lettered subsection and reletter subsequent subsections accordingly:

() This section applies to each open-enrollment charter school for which the charter is approved under this subchapter, regardless of whether the charter for the school was approved:

(1) by the board of trustees of a school district at an election held under Section 12.1016, as added by _____.B No. ____, Acts of the 88th Legislature, Regular Session, 2023; or

(2) by the commissioner on date occurring before the effective date of _____.B No. ____, Acts of the 88th Legislature, Regular Session, 2023.

(2) Add the following appropriately numbered SECTION to the bill and renumber the subsequent SECTIONS of the bill accordingly:

SECTION _____. Subchapter D, Chapter 12, Education Code, is amended by adding Section 12.1016 to read as follows:

Sec. 12.1016. ELECTION TO ESTABLISH NEW CAMPUS. (a) Notwithstanding any other law, before the commissioner approves a charter to establish a new open-enrollment charter school campus, the board of trustees of the school district in which the new campus will be wholly or partially located shall order an election on the proposed establishment of the new campus.

(b) A proposed charter to establish a new open-enrollment charter school campus shall be submitted to the voters of the district at an election to be held on the first uniform election date that occurs at least 45 days after the date on which the board of trustees orders the election.

(c) Not later than the 10th day after the date the canvas of the election returns is completed, the board of trustees of the district shall notify the commissioner of the result of the election.

(d) The commissioner may approve the charter to establish a new open-enrollment charter school campus only if the proposition to establish the new campus is approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the district voting at an election called for that purpose.

(e) If the proposition to establish the new open-enrollment charter school campus is not approved at the election, the commissioner shall notify the applicant that the charter is not approved.

Amendment No. 3 - Point of Order

Representative Cain raised a point of order against further consideration of Amendment No. 3 under Rule 11, Section 2, and Rule 11, Section 3, of the House Rules on the grounds that the amendment is not germane and the amendment changes the original purpose of the bill. The point of order was withdrawn.

Amendment No. 3 was withdrawn.

Amendment No. 4

Representative Hinojosa offered the following amendment to HB 1707:

Amend HB 1707 (house committee report) as follows:

On page 2, line 3, between "work" and ":", insert: "if the charter school certifies in writing to the political subdivision that no administrator, officer, or employee of the charter school and no member of the governing body of the charter school or its charter holder derives any personal financial benefit from a real estate transaction with the charter school."

Amendment No. 4 was adopted.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the senate was received at this time (see the addendum to the daily journal, Messages from the Senate, Message No. 3).

HB 1707 - (consideration continued)Amendment No. 5

CSHB 2555 ON SECOND READING(by Metcalf and Raymond)

CSHB 2555, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to transmission and distribution system resiliency planning by and cost recovery for electric utilities.

Amendment No. 1

Representative Metcalf offered the following amendment to CSHB 2555:

Amend CSHB 2555 (house committee printing) as follows:

(1) On page 1, lines 16 and 17, strike "technology and cyber security measures," and substitute "technology, cybersecurity measures, physical security measures,".

(2) On page 2, line 25, strike "cyber security" and substitute "cybersecurity".

(3) Strike page 3, line 12 through page 4, line 1, and substitute the following:

(e) The commission shall issue an order to approve, modify, or deny a plan filed under Subsection (b) and any associated rider described by Subsection (i) not later than the 180th day after the plan is filed with the commission. The commission may not approve a plan if the commission determines that approving the plan is not in the public interest.

(f) For a plan approved by the commission, with or without modification, an electric utility may request a good cause exception on implementing all or some of the measures or incurring all or some of the estimated costs in the plan if operational needs, business needs, financial conditions, or supply chain or labor conditions dictate the exception. The commission's denial of a plan is not considered to be a finding of the prudence or imprudence of a measure or cost in the plan for the purposes of Chapter 36 or this chapter.

(4) On page 4, line 7, between "approval" and "of", insert "date".

(5) On page 4, lines 13-14, strike "incurred," and substitute "incurred and otherwise reasonable,".

(i) Notwithstanding any other law, an electric utility may file with a plan an application for a rider to recover all or a portion of the estimated costs relating to the electric utility's implementation of the plan, other than transmission-related costs. If the commission approves the plan, the commission shall determine the appropriate terms of the rider in the approval order. A rider approved under this subsection must allow the electric utility to begin recovering the levelized cost of implementing the approved plan, other than transmission-related costs, at the time the plan is first implemented. The commission shall adopt a procedure for reconciliation of an electric utility's distribution-related expenses to implement an approved plan.

(7) On page 4, line 27 through page 5, line 1, strike "any rider approved in connection with the previously approved plan" and substitute "the rider authorized under Subsection (i)".

(8) On page 5, line 5, between "the" and "costs", insert "distribution-related".

(9) On page 5, line 7, between "including" and "carrying", insert "depreciation expense and".

(10) On page 5, lines 10 and 11, strike "Sections 35.004, 36.209," and substitute "Sections 36.209".

(11) On page 5, lines 13 and 14, strike "may not include the same costs otherwise recovered through the electric utility's base rates" and substitute "may include only incremental costs that are not already being recovered through the electric utility's base rates or any other rate rider".

(12) Strike page 5, line 25 through page 6, line 3.

Amendment No. 1 was adopted.

Amendment No. 2

Representative Tinderholt offered the following amendment to CSHB 2555:

Amend CSHB 2555 (house committee printing) as follows:

(1) On page 2, line 27, strike "or".

(2) On page 3, strike line 1 and substitute the following:

(10) wildfire mitigation and response; or

(11) measures to protect electrical transmission and distribution systems from electromagnetic threats.

Amendment No. 2 failed of adoption.

CSHB 2555, as amended, was passed to engrossment.

Amendment No. 2

Representative Klick offered the following amendment to HB 2478:

Amend HB 2478 (house committee report) by adding the following appropriately numbered SECTIONS to the bill and renumbering subsequent SECTIONS of the bill accordingly:

SECTION _____. Chapter 47, Health and Safety Code, is amended by adding Section 47.0032 to read as follows:

Sec. 47.0032. TESTING FOR CONGENITAL CYTOMEGALOVIRUS. (a) In this section, "congenital cytomegalovirus" has the meaning assigned by Section 46.001.

(b) If a newborn or infant does not pass the hearing screening performed under Section 47.003, the program that performed the screening shall perform or cause to be performed a test for congenital cytomegalovirus on the newborn or infant unless the newborn's or infant's parent declines the test.

(c) If the newborn or infant receives a positive test for congenital cytomegalovirus, the entity that performed the test shall provide the newborn's or infant's parents with:

(1) the results of the test;

(2) information on the potential effects of congenital cytomegalovirus and the available treatment options; and

(3) a referral to an appropriate physician or facility for the treatment of congenital cytomegalovirus.

SECTION _____. Section 47.0032, Health and Safety Code, as added by this Act, applies only to a newborn or infant hearing screening performed on or after the effective date of this Act.

Amendment No. 2 was adopted.
