DIGEST

Currently, the Texas Crime Victims' Compensation Fund serves as a financial safety net for victims of crime. The primary purpose of the fund is to reimburse victims for any out-of-pocket expenses incurred as a result of crime. The money in the fund comes directly from convicted offenders in the form of court costs and other fees. Administration of the fund is governed by Subchapter B, Code of Criminal Procedure, the Crime Victims' Compensation Act. During the 73rd Legislative Session, the Act was amended and amounts paid by offenders into the fund were increased. As a result, the monies in the fund have steadily increased over the past three years. These additional dollars have allowed the legislature to expand the program, thereby reaching a greater number of victims with more assistance. This legislation increases the type and amount of benefits available through the fund for victims of crime. Additionally, this bill broadens the scope of the Act by adding new categories of eligible applicants and authorized expenditures. Finally, S.B. 1156 includes policy changes related to the administration of the program.

PURPOSE

As proposed, S.B. 1156 revises Chapter 56B, Code of Criminal Procedure, the Crime Victims' Compensation Act, and makes an appropriation.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
