Committee Report (Amended)

DIGEST

Currently, Texas does not have regulations regarding the use of alternative dispute resolution procedures by a state agency. The rapid growth in the use of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) processes in the private sector over the last few decades has demonstrated that there are more effective, equitable and efficient ways of dealing with conflict than traditional adversarial methods. Use of ADR procedures by government entities has been shown to save money, improve conflict management effectiveness, and facilitate better relationships between government and its constituents. Several Texas agencies have already used ADR procedures in one form or another. Notwithstanding these precedents, legal counsel at some agencies have been hesitant to take advantage of ADR procedures without clear legislative authorization and encouragement. This bill will provide regulations for the use of alternative dispute resolution procedures by state agencies.

PURPOSE

As proposed, S.B. 694 provides regulations for the use of alternative dispute resolution procedures by state agencies.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

Rulemaking authority is granted to state agencies subject to Chapter 2001, in SECTION 1 (Section 2008.051(b), Government Code) of this bill.

SECTION BY SECTION ANALYSIS

Authorizes a state agency to contract with another state agency, including the Center for Public Policy Dispute Resolution at the University of Texas School of Law (center), or with a private entity for any service necessary to meet the objectives of this chapter.

Sec. 2008.005. SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY. Provides that this chapter does not waive immunity from suit and does not affect a waiver of immunity from suit contained in other law. Provides that the state's sovereign immunity under the Eleventh Amendment to the United States Constitution is not waived by this chapter. Provides that nothing in this chapter authorizes binding arbitration as a method of alternative dispute resolution.

SUBCHAPTER B. ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Authorizes the State Office of Administrative Hearings to issue model guidelines for the use of alternative dispute resolution procedures by state agencies. Sec. 2008.052. SUPPLEMENTAL NATURE OF PROCEDURES. Provides that alternative dispute resolution procedures developed and used under this chapter supplement and do not limit other dispute resolution procedures available at a state agency. Requires the ALJ, if TNRCC has not already conducted an alternative dispute resolution procedure, to consider TNRCC's recommendation in determining whether to issue an order referring the case to the procedure.
