DIGEST AND PURPOSE

Currently, an institution of higher education (institution) is authorized to charge up to $150 for student services fees per semester. Institutions spend student services fees to fund various student activities that are separate and distinct from the general operations budget of the university. However, many institutions are now charging students the current cap of $150 for student services fees, and find that the fees are not able to meet the service needs of current student populations. H.B. 2575 increases the maximum limit of aggregate student services fees that an institution is authorized to charge.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
