

BILL ANALYSIS

Senate Research Center

H.B. 673
By: Madden (Shapiro)
Education
4/30/2003
Engrossed

DIGEST AND PURPOSE

In 2002, the United States Congress enacted the No Child Left Behind (NCLB) Act. That Act requires any school receiving federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act Title I, Part A funding to notify parents regarding teachers who do not meet the NCLB Act's definition of "highly qualified." Currently, the Texas Education Code essentially duplicates this requirement. H.B. 673 eliminates the requirement for duplicate notices.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.

SECTION BY SECTION ANALYSIS

SECTION 1. Amends Section 21.057, Education Code, by adding Subsection (e) to provide that this section does not apply if a school is required in accordance with the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001, and its subsequent amendments, to provide notice to a parent regarding a teacher who is not highly qualified, provided the school provides notice as required by that Act.

SECTION 2. Effective date: upon passage or September 1, 2003.