AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Currently, a person or entity who disputes a property tax valuation is required only to pay the amount of tax the person or entity thinks the property is worth. In some cases, this dispute can last two to three years before a final resolution is made in the courts. A rural county can be particularly affected by the delay in tax revenue receipts that may be crucial to the operation of a school district. Faster resolution of these disputes may provide appraisal districts and school districts with a better idea of their expected tax revenues.

S.B. 57 gives ad valorem tax disputes priority and expedited status in the district courts of rural counties.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
