Committee Report (Substituted)

AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

The Dallas-Fort Worth area is the fifth largest Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) in the United States and the only SMSA that does not have a public law school. Texas' population has increased from 14.3 million to 22.5 million with no additional law schools being added, limiting the opportunities for Texans to attain an affordable legal education in Texas. With the continuing growth of the Dallas-Fort Worth region, the need for legal knowledge is increasing. Currently, Dallas must import 30 percent of its attorneys from out-of-state law schools.

C.S.S.B. 956 authorizes the board of regents of the University of North Texas System to establish and operate a school of law in Dallas as a professional school of the University of North Texas System for five years and as a professional school of the University of North Texas at Dallas after that period and provides the conditions under which it is to be funded.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
