Committee Report (Substituted)

AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

In the 10 years since the Fair Defense Act (FDA) was enacted, much progress has been made in improving indigent criminal defense in Texas. State expenditures for indigent defense have gone from $0 prior to the passage of the FDA, to approximately $30 million today thanks to various dedicated fees. Since 2002, the number of defendants receiving appointed counsel has increased by 45 percent, going from about 324,000 appointments in 2002, to just over 470,000 in 2009.

Despite this progress, modifications to the Fair Defense Act are needed to enhance the independence and accountability of the Task Force on Indigent Defense; reduce the burdens on counties that would like to establish a public defender office; and establish a procedure for counties to establish managed assigned counsel programs, also known as "private defenders."

All of the reforms contained in C.S.H.B. 1754 were developed or approved by the Task Force on Indigent Defense, including: changing the name of the Task Force on Indigent Defense to the Texas Indigent Defense Commission (commission); making the commission an independent agency within the judicial branch; requiring the commission to be subject to Sunset Review to ensure it is carrying out its legislative mandate; adding two defense lawyer representatives, including a public defender representative, to the commission; creating a procedure for counties to establish "managed assigned counsel" programs, also known as "private defender" programs; revising the public defender statute so that private requests for bids don't have to be sent out when counties want to establish a public defender office; and suggesting that oversight boards be established for public defender offices, which is a nationally recognized best practice.

C.S.H.B. 1754 amends current law relating to the reorganization of powers and duties among agencies in this state that provide representation to indigent defendants in criminal cases and to the reorganization of funding sources for indigent defense.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

Rulemaking authority is expressly granted to the governing board of the Texas Indigent Defense Commission in SECTION 1 (Sections 79.018 and 79.021, Government Code) of this bill.

Rulemaking authority previously granted to the Texas Judicial Council is rescinded in SECTION 15 (Article 26.05, Code of Criminal Procedure).

Rulemaking authority previously granted to the Task Force on Indigent Defense is transferred to the Texas Indigent Defense Commission in SECTION 17 of this bill.
