LRL Now on Pinterest

Posted At : August 6, 2012 8:19 AM | Posted By : Admin
Related Categories: LRL news

It's official, the Legislative Reference Library is now on Pinterest! You can view our page at http://pinterest.com/texaslrl/

Pinterest is a new social media site that allows you to collect and share interesting things you find on the web. Users set up "boards" on a theme of their choice and then "pin" web-based items they find on that topic. Browsing other users' Pinterest boards is a fun and visual way to discover new information.

The library's three initial pinboards highlight art in the library, books by or about Texas legislators, and links for the library's most popular online resources. We'll be pinning new items on an ongoing basis, so check back often!